Disarm Issue Given Top Spot By UN Unit

Aid To Africa Placed Second, Algeria Third

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The U.N. General Assembly's main Political Committee agreed Tuesday to give disarmament top billing on its list of hot East-West issues for debate.

Both the United States and the Soviet Union agreed to that course—but actual prospects remained dim for any immediate break in the long-standing deadlock on actual disarmament negotiations.

After long procedural wrangling the committee gave second spot to President Eisenhower's African aid program and third to the question of independence for Algeria.

Agreement to put disarmament ahead of everything else in the 99-nation committee came after a surprise proposal from newly independent Nigeria that the Eisenhower program be given the No. 1 spot.

Nigeria Delegate Yields

But after the United States, the Soviet Union and a number of other nations stressed the desire to see disarmament taken up first, the Nigerian delegate, Jaja Wachuku, said he would be satisfied to have issues related to Africa dropped to second place.

U.S. Ambassador James J. Wadsworth expressed hope that Eisenhower's proposal be placed as high as possible on the committee's work schedule. But he said the United States had already made clear in assembly debate it gave disarmament top priority.

Eisenhower proposed in his assembly speech Sept. 22 that the United Nations consider a broad program for the independence and development of the newly independent African nations.

U.S. To Suggest Program

Wadsworth said the United States would present a preliminary outline of ideas that might be included in such a program. He indicated other members of the committee, especially the African representatives, would have to be consulted before definite plans could be presented.

Valerian A. Zorin, Soviet deputy foreign minister, recalled that Soviet Premier Khrushchev, in his assembly appearances, had put emphasis on disarmament. He chided other members of the committee who appeared to line up behind the Nigerian view that it might be a good idea to delay disarmament discussion while East-West relations were at tense.

Tanker Plane Crash Kills 7

LANGLEY AIR FORCE BASE, Va. (AP)—A huge Air Force jet tanker carrying seven crewmen crashed and burned at the edge of an island bombing range near here Tuesday night and the Air Force said there were no survivors.

The KB50J tanker, designed to refuel as many as three jet fighters, came down about 6:30 p.m. near the shore of Plumtree Island, a few miles northeast of here, shortly after takeoff from this sprawling Tactical Air Command base in eastern Virginia. It burst into towering flames on impact.

Two hours after the crash state police had removed three bodies from the smoldering wreckage and sent them to Langley AFB by helicopter.

Langley officials said the aircraft lay half on the island, half in the waters of Back River, which flows to the north of the air base into Chesapeake Bay.

Commission To Get Rail-Union Dispute

Recommendations Will Not Be Binding

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation's railroads and the men who operate the trains agreed Tuesday to submit their hot dispute over work rules and practices to a presidential commission.

Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell, who negotiated the agreement, wrung concessions from both sides.

The agreement ended, at least through next year, any threat of a strike over what railroad managers call featherbedding—defined as work rules and practices which they contend require the carriers to employ unneeded men.

The railroads have been urging a presidential commission to look into the matter, and insisting its recommendations be binding on both sides.

On the other hand, the operating brotherhoods have opposed such a commission.

Under the agreement, the commission's recommendations will not be binding.

Mitchell told a news conference, however, that while any unsolved problems could be put before a presidential fact-finding board under the Railway Labor Act, he felt it was unlikely this would be necessary.

"This is a monumental step forward in one of our basic industries," Mitchell said. "This is an indication of maturity in labor-management relations."

Spokesmen for the railroads and the unions hailed the agreement, too.

"We wholeheartedly welcome this presidential study commission as a major contribution to the public welfare, and will help in every way to make its work a success," said Guy W. Knight, who spoke for railroad management.

Knight, director of labor relations for the Pennsylvania Railroad, added: "With such full cooperation from all parties, we have no doubt whatever that this group will be able to find solutions for the problem of wasteful work rules that now so heavily burden all the nation."

W. P. Kennedy of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, who spoke for the operating unions, called the agreement "a major step toward the re-establishment of sound labor relations in the railroad industry."

Under the agreement, President Eisenhower will appoint a 15-member commission to tackle the problem.

Each side will nominate five members. The remaining five, called public members, will be appointed without consultation with either side, Mitchell said.

Dag Mentioned For Nobel Prize

OSLO, Norway (AP)—U.N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld was mentioned in speculation Tuesday as a likely candidate to win this year's Nobel Peace Prize.

A committee appointed by the Norwegian Parliament every year picks the man who in the words of Alfred Nobel's testament "has done the most or best to further brotherhood amongst the peoples, to abolish or cut down the standing armies and to create or further the work of peace congresses."

Leaders Of GE Strike Call For End Of Walkout

U.S. Army Tests Arctic A-Plant

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army has started up its atomic power plant built under the snow of the Greenland ice cap only about 800 miles from the North Pole.

It announced Tuesday that operational testing of the 2,000-kilowatt plant has begun.

In addition to providing electricity for the Army's arctic test base at Camp Century, on the ice cap, the nuclear-heated steam power plant will be used to melt snow and provide a water supply.

Camp Century includes 30 prefabricated quarters, laboratories and other buildings buried in the snow to protect them from 70-degrees-below temperatures and winds of more than 125 miles per hour in the winter months.

The semiportable reactor, built for the Army by Alco Products, Inc. of Schenectady, N.Y., was shipped to Greenland in sections.

Cuba, In Memo To U.N., Charges U.S. Aggression

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Cuba filed a complaint with the United Nations Tuesday night charging U.S. aerial aggression against Cuban soil.

The complaint filed by Cuban Foreign Minister Raul Roa with General Assembly President Frederick H. Boland, asked that the assembly give the charges the "fastest possible consideration."

In an explanatory memorandum Roa charged that a four-engine plane with North American markings flew over U.S. territory Sept. 29 and dropped large quantities of machine guns, rifles, hand grenades and maps near the town of Escambray in Las Villas Province.

"The purpose of this clandestine drop," Roa charged "was to reinforce the counterrevolutionary elements" which had "intended to create a spearhead of an invasion."

Roa declared that other alleged acts were aimed at stamping out Cuba's liberty and "converting it again into a satellite of the North American monopolies."

The company offered a 3 percent increase immediately and another 4 percent in the spring of 1962, with a demand, however, for abolition of the cost-of-living clause in the current contract.

U. S. Seeks Polaris Sub Base In Scotland

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. officials said Tuesday negotiations are under way for establishing a base in Scotland for atomic-powered American submarines equipped with Polaris missiles.

American sources were hopeful an agreement would be reached soon. The discussions with the British have been going on for months.

However, details of the proposed agreement are being kept under wraps. The issue is a touchy one insofar as British public opinion is concerned.

According to unofficial reports, the proposed base at a Scottish port would be able to accommodate fuel and missile stores and a submarine tender such as the specially equipped Proteus, now based in Charleston, S.C.

Home Building Slump Clouds Future Outlook

Nixon Insists U.S. Strongest

WASHINGTON (AP)—Government economists Tuesday began reassessing the economic future in the light of a new report showing a sharp September slump in home building.

The Census Bureau issued a preliminary estimate that private housing starts dropped nearly 17 percent last month to a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 1,077,000 homes.

This was the lowest level since the 1958 recession year and compared with an August rate of 1,295,000 homes.

A Commerce Department official said the dismal September record will prompt his staff to take a new look at 1961 home building prospects.

This will be an important element in a much broader review of the entire business outlook. Administration optimism about the future has been dampened somewhat in recent weeks by declines in industrial production, retail sales, wages and salary payments and an indicated third quarter dip in the gross national product—the total output of goods and services.

Within the administration, disagreements have arisen over whether the nation may be heading into another recession.

Some government experts viewed the September housing report as a signal that the home building picture may have changed drastically in recent months.

Pair Expelled From Soviet Reach Zurich

ZURICH, Switzerland (AP)—Mark I. Kaminsky and Harvey C. Bennett, expelled from the Soviet Union for alleged spying, arrived here Tuesday night en route home.

The two Americans, both complaining of colds caught in the U.S.S.R., registered at a hotel. They said they would try to obtain seats Wednesday on a New York-bound plane.

Daughter Of Late Actress Found Dead In Apartment

NEW YORK (AP)—In life, actress Margaret Sullivan and her daughter, Bridget Hayward, were a world apart. But in death, they shared odd, poignant similarities.

Bridget, 21, was found dead late Monday in her midtown apartment, apparently a suicide. She was one of Miss Sullivan's three children by producer Leland Hayward.

Both parents remarried. Miss Sullivan's was the world of the theater, with its lights, magic, music.

Bridget's world was a different one, the world of youth, where heartbreak so often is magnified. She, too, reportedly aspired to a stage career, but it had eluded her grasp.

Last Jan. 1, Margaret Sullivan, 48, died in her bed behind the locked door of a hotel room in cause of the girl's death.

Kennedy Says GOP Has Lost Cuba To Reds

Candidates Pledge Two-Fisted Policy In Legion Speeches

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Sen. John F. Kennedy told the American Legion Tuesday that "Cuba has been lost to the Communists" under the administration of which Vice President Richard M. Nixon is a part. Nixon followed through with a proposal to "quarantine the Castro regime" as "an intolerable cancer."

The Democratic and Republican candidates for president spoke half an hour apart at the annual convention of the Legion. Each wore his blue and gold Legion cap.

They appeared in an auditorium with 9,568 seats—all but a handful occupied.

And before an organization vitally concerned with American power and military strength the two took the same stances they have occupied all along.

Kennedy—"No amount of oratory, no amount of claims, no unjustified charges can hide the harsh fact that behind the rhetoric—behind the soothing words that our prestige has never been higher and Communist prestige never lower, American strength relative to that of the Sino-Soviet bloc has been slipping and that communism has been advancing steadily in every area of the world until the Iron Curtain now rests on the island of Cuba only 90 miles from this city of Miami."

Nixon—"Whatever we may think of American strength today, and I happen to know and Mr. Khrushchev knows, we are the strongest nation in the world and we're going to stay that way; whatever we think of American strength today, we can never stand pat because we are faced with a ruthless enemy. It is essential that America increase its strength."

Each touched on Quemoy and Matsu, Latin America, Cuba and America's military strength.

Nixon added some topics that Kennedy didn't mention. He struck at Kennedy's views on admitting Red China to the United Nations under certain conditions.

He said if he were president he would consider ordering America's first veto in the U.N. Security Council of any efforts to admit the Chinese Communists until they purge themselves by actions of offenses against world law.

Nixon has better of applause. For his part, Kennedy told the Legionnaires that he has never believed in retreating under fire of any kind and: "I will not cut our present commitments to the cause of freedom, if I am elected president, anywhere in the world—the Formosa Strait, Africa, Asia and Latin America."

Both men were soundly applauded by Legionnaires and by ordinary citizens who were allowed to enter the convention hall.

Leader Of Laos Coup Arrested

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—Premier Prince Souvanna Phouma Tuesday put paratrooper Capt. Kong Le under house arrest and denounced Communist ambitions in Laos.

The actions obviously were aimed at showing the United States and the rest of the Western world that he is taking orders from no one.

Kong Le was the leader of the Aug. 9 military coup that toppled Laos' pro-Western government and made the prince premier. The captain was put under technical house arrest for 15 days. Souvanna said the arrest order would not necessarily be enforced, but it would go into Kong Le's record as a black mark.

The premier told newsmen he took the action to punish Kong Le for the all-out unauthorized welcome the captain staged last week on the arrival of A. N. Abramov, first Soviet ambassador to Laos.

The arrest order came amid mounting fears that Kong Le might have been planning another coup. He frequently has threatened to take action on his own against the right-wing rebel regime of Gen. Phoumi Nosavan in southern Laos.

The United States was expected to welcome the action against Kong Le. There has been growing U.S. concern over his increasing stature.

Lodge Says Nixon Would Name Negro To Cabinet

By MICHAEL KEATING
ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Henry Cabot Lodge predicted flatly Tuesday that a Negro would be appointed to the Cabinet if Vice President Richard M. Nixon were elected president.

Lodge, Republican candidate for vice president, accused Sen. John F. Kennedy, the Democratic presidential candidate, of "pussyfooting and dodging" the controversial issue, in which Lodge has been embroiled for a week.

"Let him declare where he stands. If he's against it, let him say so," Lodge asserted to newsmen at Albany Airport.

In Ohio Monday, Kennedy said he was not going to promise a Cabinet or any other post to any race or ethnic group. He said that was "racism in reverse at its worst."

When Lodge arrived here for a two-hour swing through the district, he was asked to comment in charges that he was "reneging" on reported pledges that a Negro would be appointed to the Cabinet should the GOP ticket win the Nov. 8 election.

He said there ought to be a Negro in the Cabinet because it would do "enormous good" for United States foreign relations and also fulfill the national purpose.

"I will make this prediction," he said: "If Richard Nixon is elected, there will be a qualified Negro in the Cabinet."

This reporter and a photographer then understood him to add, "That's a promise." Lodge later denied that he had used the word "promise," and it was not in a recording of the interview. Also, another reporter at the scene did not hear it.

In his denial, Lodge repeated the word "prediction" and pointed out, as he had at other times, that it was the president's job to make Cabinet appointments.

Nixon has said he would appoint the best men he could find, without regard to race or creed.

He said again Tuesday, in Florida: "I have made no commitments, and I don't think any should be made. But I will say, that, if elected, I will appoint the best man."

Tourist Denies Confessing He Spied In Soviet

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—A young American tourist said Tuesday he was convicted of espionage in the Soviet Union after he admitted traveling through the country to gather material for a book on the Kremlin's preparations for war.

The tourist, Mark I. Kaminsky, 28, whose family lives on a farm near Niles, Mich., arrived here Monday night from the Soviet Union, where he received a seven-year sentence Sept. 16 on spy charges. The sentence was suspended and he was expelled along with his traveling companion, Harvey C. Bennett, 26, of Tracy, Calif.

"They told me it would be foolish not to plead guilty," Kaminsky told a news conference. "They gave me a lawyer. He was not of much assistance, but he cheered me up. He advised me to confess to the charge wholeheartedly and tell the court I felt very remorseful. He stressed the part about 'remorseful' time and again."

"I did not carry out espionage nor did I confess to espionage," he said. "I did confess though that I was getting material for a book."

He explained later that under Soviet law it is considered espionage to gather the material he collected—such facts as that there are soldiers everywhere in Russia.

He said the subject of the survey was: "The Soviet Union Talks Peace While Preparing for War."

He added that he took pictures of soldiers, radio antennae and trains but not for espionage purposes. The photographs were confiscated.

Kaminsky, a big, heavyset man in a light blue suit, said Russians had treated him well although they subjected him to questioning up to eight hours a day.

He said they extracted a promise from him not to write the book, but he wasn't certain what he would do now.

"It's not that I think promises made under duress don't count," he said. "I simply have not made up my mind."

The Soviet news agency Tass said Kaminsky admitted gathering information on troop concentrations, radio and power station locations, military camps and their approach roads, and details about bridges, railway stations and industrial centers for use in a "slandorous" book about the Soviet Union.

Tass also reported that Bennett denounced Kaminsky as a spy during the trial. Bennett denied this.

"I explained to the Russians that Mark was writing a book and that was why he gathered information. But I had to agree that this was not the sort of activity a normal tourist would do," Bennett said.

Young Housewife Washing Window Plunges To Death

WASHINGTON (AP)—A pregnant young housewife plunged 15 feet to her death Monday while apparently washing windows in her first-floor apartment.

The body of Mrs. Robert R. Engle, 19, who had been married just over a year, was found in an area way directly under the living room windows of her apartment, police said.

Daniel Russell, 68, the apartment janitor who found the body, said Mrs. Engle earlier had borrowed a hose from him, saying she wanted to wash her windows.

Kennedy Says

Nixon had a little the better of it on the applause meter when he showed up and when he finished, but it was only a matter of seconds. And the vice president seemed to get somewhat louder outbursts from the crowd as he went through his speech. Some Legionnaires said afterward that Nixon had the folksier approach and was easier to understand.

The two men battling for the presidency used their journey to Florida to get in some campaign licks for the state's 10 electoral votes.

Each went into action at Jacksonville and Tampa. In addition, Kennedy tossed off a couple of speeches in Miami, at a shopping center and at a bandstand on Biscayne Bay.

Nixon chose to use some of his toughest language on the question of relations with Cuba—on which Kennedy has been hanging away at him. The Democratic nominee says that Nixon went to Latin America in 1955 and reported afterward that he was convinced that communism had passed its high-water mark in that area.

Nixon countered that this country, as it should have, has showed great patience toward the Cuban government. But he said provocations have been intensified.

"In the affairs of nations, as individuals," the vice president went on, "there comes a time when patience is no longer a virtue. That time is at hand so far as (Fidel) Castro is concerned."

He said the intolerable cancer of Communist penetration will fester endlessly unless the United States and other nations of the hemisphere take prompt and authoritative action to prevent further Soviet gains.

"Our goal," Nixon said, "must be to quarantine the Castro regime in the Americas."

The Republican nominee said there are steps that can be taken—he didn't name them—and that while the quarantining process goes on, "we will very promptly take the strongest possible economic measures to counter the economic banditry being pursued by this regime against our country and our citizens."

Kennedy made only passing allusions to the issue of defending Quemoy and Matsu, the Chinese Nationalist pinpoints islands off the Communist Chinese mainland. In addition to promising no commitment cut anywhere, including the Formosa Strait, the Massachusetts senator suggested to the Legionnaires: "Let's come back to the mainland of China for a stronghold of the Formosa. He says bit and concentrate on Cuba."

Nixon wanted to defend the offshore islands for their own sake. He has been taking the position that he supports the Eisenhower administration view that Quemoy of an issue left.

Fulbright Hints Nixon 'Apology' Given 'K' In '59

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., suggested Tuesday that Vice President Richard M. Nixon had expressed regret to Soviet Premier Khrushchev over the timing of a 1959 "captive nations" resolution passed by Congress.

Fulbright said he had been informed that Nixon told Khrushchev "neither he nor the President would deliberately have chosen to have a resolution of this type passed just before his (Nixon's) visit to the U.S.S.R."

"Mr. Nixon added: 'After all, we are not stupid,'" Fulbright said.

The resolution, passed by Congress and signed by President Eisenhower directed the President to proclaim a "captive nations" week to emphasize the plight of peoples behind the Iron Curtain.

Fulbright, who heads the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, made his statements in a letter to Secretary of State Christian A. Herter renewing his demand for release of the full records of Nixon-Khrushchev conversations in Moscow last year.

Fulbright noted that Nixon, as the Republican presidential nominee, has criticized Sen. John F. Kennedy, his Democratic rival, for saying he (Kennedy) might have expressed regrets over the U2 spy plane incident if that would have saved the summit conference which collapsed last May.

"As you know," Fulbright wrote to Herter, "there has been considerable emphasis in the campaign thus far that the timing of the U2 incident was important. Yet, Mr. Nixon apparently has felt that the timing of the captive nations resolution was important."

"Furthermore a great deal has been said during the campaign of the alleged ability of the vice president to 'stand up to Khrushchev. Yet apparently in connection with the captive nations resolution, he indicated his regret over its timing."

Kennedy has criticized the timing of the U2 flight just before the summit meeting was scheduled to open. Nixon has defended what he called Eisenhower's decision to continue this intelligence operation.

Bass Terms Nixon Great Improviser

CHESAPEAKE BEACH, Md. (AP)—Rep. Ross Bass, D-Tenn., said Tuesday night Vice President Richard Nixon's program for president "is nothing more than a do-it-yourself kit without any tools and material."

"He has said 'me too' to Jack Kennedy's programs and even picked up his phrases such as putting this country 'on the move'."

Bass told a dinner meeting of about 200 Democrats.

Bass said that the facts were that Nixon actually has no program of his own for president and improvises as he goes along.

Nixon Misleads On U.S. Strength, Adlai Charges

NEW YORK (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson accused Vice President Richard M. Nixon Tuesday night of misleading the people regarding the nation's strength.

Stevenson charged the Republican presidential nominee with reckless, dangerous and demagogic talk in a prepared address billed as his main speech of the campaign.

"Mr. Nixon has repeatedly said that militarily, economically and diplomatically we are in a position of strength unparalleled in the history of this country. Any man who believes this will believe anything—and will do nothing," Stevenson said.

Stevenson, Democratic presidential nominee in 1952 and 1956, told a $100-a-plate dinner sponsored by the New York Citizens for Kennedy and Johnson that the issue of the presidential campaign is: "Whether to drift along in a soft sea of self-congratulations, telling ourselves that each new disaster is a new victory; or whether we wake up, come to life again, and resume the pattern of national greatness and international responsibility."

The latter path, he said, is "the path of Woodrow Wilson and Franklin Roosevelt; the path of John F. Kennedy, and a new generation of leadership in the sixties."

In backing Kennedy, the Democratic presidential nominee, Stevenson directed his criticism also at the Eisenhower administration and Henry Cabot Lodge, the Republican vice-presidential candidate.

Convicts Stage 6-Hour Revolt

WETHERSFIELD, Conn. (AP)—A small band of tough prisoners, on a narcotics binge, held three guards hostage at knifepoint for more than six hours Tuesday at the Connecticut State Prison.

Then they surrendered in favor of a conference with a legislator and an attorney to talk over their grievances. By then the ringleader was groggy.

None of the guards was hurt. But the prison hospital, where the disturbance took place, was damaged. The patient-inmates hurled chairs, desks, files and records down a stairway.

A total of six inmates were involved, all but one of them hospitalized patients. But the blame was placed on only three of them, including Walter Doolittle, 21, of Hartford, a ringleader of the Jan. 6 riot.

Coeds Get Paid For Steak Diet

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—Ever hear of anyone getting paid to eat sirloin steak?

That's what 11 University of Maryland coeds will be doing for the next eight weeks—for pay.

The undergraduates, who also will be fed sugar wafers and gum drops between meals, are taking part in an experiment by the College of Home Economics. The study is on the effects of diet on the amount of cholesterol in the blood.

For adhering to the prescribed diet, which rules out hot dogs at football games and ice cream at the snack bar, the girls will get $160. To collect they must stick to the university's menu every day from now until Thanksgiving.

Medical investigators have blamed a surplus of cholesterol, a fatty substance, for plugging coronary arteries and causing heart attacks.

East German Communists Adopt Nazi Slogan Idea

By WELLINGTON LONG
LEIPZIG, East Germany (UPI)—"Work will make you free" used to be painted on the walls of Nazi concentration camps. The Communist regime here in East Germany has taken over the idea without a blush.

Similar slogans hang in every block in this once-proud university city, and the Central House of Arts has just announced all signs—in German, French, English and Russian—warning, "Take to begin with a day of volunteer, unpaid labor. The rest of the festive days are to be taken up primarily with inspection of the degree by which farmers fulfilled their "norms" or production quotas. Typical of Communist "culture" are signs proclaiming that "it is forbidden to eat roast wieners or ice cream in streetcars or public buses."

Driving the 120-mile highway from Berlin, the Westerner passes through five police checkpoints and instead of advertising billboards, the eye is assaulted by signs—in German, French, English and Russian—warning, "Taking of pictures in this area is forbidden."

Police and soldiers are everywhere. West German government officials report there is a ratio of 66 armed men for every 1,000 of population in East Germany.

Such building construction and repair as have been undertaken has been limited to the fair grounds exhibition halls, the railroad station—Europe's largest—and the Astoria Hotel reserved for official visitors, and a just-opened Opera House.

The adjoining cafe is Soviet style bar this fall selling something described as "whisky," and mixed drinks with such exotic names as "Los Angeles Coblentz."

The Reds did abolish formal food rationing several years ago. But restaurants still are required to state on their menus exactly how many grams of meat, shortening, potatoes and vegetables are in each portion.

"Freiheit" (Freedom) is the word the Reds use most. It stares down from the wall as the customs police make the traveler register his camera and portable radio, and looms out of the propaganda leaflets the stewardess hands you as she collects and locks up all cameras and binoculars before the plane takeoff.

But even civil life is organized in military fashion. Workers and even cafe waitresses are organized in "brigades," and the language in which they are urged on is that used by infantry sergeants.

An American who regrets the passing of the nickel cup of coffee ought to dwell on the situation here, where each cup, bad as it is, costs 94 pfennigs (24 cents).

At least there are plenty of cafes in this city, although neither they nor many other buildings in

Trio Indicted In Alleged Plot Against Umps

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Two Washington, D.C., men and a young woman were indicted Tuesday on charges stemming from an alleged extortion plot against two American League umpires.

The Anne Arundel County Grand Jury indicted Donald E. Anderson, 32, and Robert O. Waldron, 30, for verbally threatening umpires Ed Runge and Bill McKinley with intent to extort money.

The two men also were indicted along with Miss Jane Spencer, 21, a dancer from Suitland, Md., for unlawfully conspiring to extort. The young woman also was indicted as an accessory before the fact to the extortion of the two umpires.

Runge testified at a magistrate's hearing Sept. 6 that he and McKinley had visited a motel in the Maryland suburbs of Washington on Aug. 28 with Miss Spencer and another dancer, Helen I. Ela, 24, of Washington.

Runge said Anderson and Waldron entered the motel a few minutes later and snapped a photograph.

The two umpires later told State Police the two men had demanded $2,000 from each of them under threat of making the photograph public.

State Police arrested Anderson and Waldron Aug. 31 at Friendship International Airport at what police said was to be a scheduled payoff meeting with the umpires.

Miss Ela was freed under bail as a material witness in the case.

Runge and McKinley were granted leaves of absence by the American League last month pending court action against Anderson, Waldron and Miss Spencer.

Runge, 42, is from San Diego, Calif. The 50-year-old McKinley is a resident of Kinsman, Ohio.

Lodge Returns To Md. Oct. 28

By The Associated Press

Maryland Republican leaders said Tuesday night the party's vice presidential candidate, Henry Cabot Lodge, will return to the state Oct. 28 for another campaign appearance.

D. Eldred Rinehart, chairman of the Republican State Central Committee, said details of the tour still had not been worked out but that Lodge would "meet as many voters as possible."

Lodge spoke Monday night to audiences at Prince Georges and Montgomery counties, and Rinehart said the party was highly encouraged by the reception he received.

The reaction to Lodge's Maryland appearances, Rinehart said, showed his "views on international affairs have great support" in the state.

Meanwhile, GOP leaders announced Sen. Kenneth B. Keating of New York as main speaker at a rally at Baltimore Friday aimed at mobilizing Negro support for the Republican ticket of Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Lodge.

Sen. J. Glenn Beall of Maryland will introduce Keating, a leading Republican exponent of civil rights, at the rally. About 300 invitations have been extended.

Democrats announced that Mrs. William Proxmire, wife of the Democratic senator from Wisconsin, will be guest at two coffee hour meetings in Baltimore Wednesday.

Her appearance is sponsored by the state committee of Citizens for Kennedy and Johnson, one of the groups working for Sens. John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson.

The Democratic State Central Committee addressed a letter to Vice President Nixon Tuesday, urging him to accept a Kennedy bid for a fifth nationally televised debate.

Bernhard To Iran

THE HAGUE, The Netherlands (AP)—At the invitation of the Shah of Iran, Prince Bernhard will visit Tehran Oct. 29, the government information service said.

Maryland Briefs

EASTON, Md. (AP) — A Negro janitor who told police he didn't trust banks lost his entire life savings Tuesday when he was attacked and robbed by two men. James Stanley, 74, janitor at Idlewood Elementary School here, said the money — in $100, $50 and $20 bills — was in his wallet, which was taken by his assailants.

BALTIMORE (AP) — U.S. District Court here will receive Friday papers requested by the court in connection with a federal milk pricing order. Attorneys for Mills Dairy Products Co., Twilley's City Dairy and Shiloh Dairy Farms, all of Dorchester County, agreed to submit the documents to the court but said they still would continue appeals against a Department of Agriculture order including the Eastern Shore in marketing regulations in the same category at Baltimore metropolitan dairy operators.

FREDERICK (AP) — Sheriff's deputies Tuesday searched the Catoclin Mountain area of northern Frederick County for a moonshiner who managed to elude the officers despite a stake-out.

Deputy Sheriff Willard Koogle said the man apparently distilled his brew in the daylight. During a weekend stake-out, Koogle said, the man fled into a heavily wooded area.

The deputies confiscated the man's car and equipment.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Morton Silverberg, 27-year-old reptile keeper at the Baltimore zoo, was reported improving at Mercy Hospital Tuesday after suffering a bite from a pigmy rattlesnake. The snake, the smallest of its species but still deadly, struck Silverberg on the finger Sunday. A glove absorbed most of the venom.

BALTIMORE (AP) — James A. Morales, a local Ironworkers union president who is charged with the fatal stabbing of Alex Gabriel, 39, of Washington, was released in $10,000 bail Tuesday. Morales, 44, also faces charges in the wounding of John P. Mitchum of Chicago. Gabriel and Mitchum, both officials of union locals, were stabbed during a fight a week ago.

TODDVILLE, Md. (AP)—Capt. Winnie M. Todd, 76, who retired in 1952 after serving for 20 years as skipper of the Tidewater Fisheries Commission police boat, was buried here Tuesday. Todd died Saturday at Cambridge-Maryland Hospital.

KEEPING 'EM ROLLING

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Since the end of World War II, the nation's railroads have installed nearly 25,000 new diesel-electric locomotives and more than 800,000 freight and passenger cars at a cost of $15 billion, according to the Association of American Rail-

Authorities say the Adam's apple is the most sensitive spot in the human body.

Hadrian's Wall in England consists of remains of fortifications which extended some 73 miles.

Some 112,000 of the 139,000 exploratory oil wells drilled during the 1950's were dry holes.

E-L Railroad Elects Officers

NEW YORK (AP) — The Erie-Lackawanna Railroad Co. launched its corporate life Tuesday as successor to two historic carriers, the Erie Railroad Co. and the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western.

The new rail system, a $737 million giant stretching from the eastern seaboard to Chicago, legally came into being at a first meeting of a 22-director board that installed Harry W. Von Willer as its boss.

Von Willer, Erie president, Monday was elected chairman, president and chief executive officer. Perry M. Shoemaker, Lackawanna president, was named vice chairman and chief administrative officer.

Fusing of the 109-year-old Lackawanna and the 128-year-old Erie culminated three years of merger talks. It was designed to shore up both financially, partly through savings foreseen by consolidation of paralleling operations between New York and Buffalo.

Montgomery Co. To Buy 50 More Voting Machines

ROCKVILLE, Md. (AP) — The Montgomery County Council has voted to buy 50 additional voting machines.

The machines, which cost a total of $82,500, are needed, officials said, because the estimated number of eligible voters has risen from a 1956 total of 118,734 to 151,317.

The county has been promised that the new machines will be delivered in time for balloting Nov. 8.

Opening Of Catoclin Bridge Bids Delayed

BALTIMORE (AP) — The opening of bids on the construction of a 400-foot long bridge over Catoclin Creek on relocated U.S. 340 in Frederick County has been postponed until Oct. 25.

The State Roads Commission earlier had scheduled the bid opening for Tuesday.

Construction of the new span, which will have two 28-foot lanes separated by a 6-foot median, is the commission's first step in the elimination of the Stiner's Hill stretch of the present U.S. 340.

Allegany Saddle Club To Mark Anniversary

The Allegany Saddle Club will celebrate its first anniversary with a party November 7. It will be at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jones Smoak, Baltimore Pike, in conjunction with the regular meeting at 8 p. m.

Sunday the club held a fall foliage trail ride over the Braddock Trail in Frostburg, which took four and one half hours on horseback. The horses were vanned to the Smouse stable, where the ride began.

Taking part in the ride were John Earsom, Jones Smoak, Marlene George, Ben Irantz, Edward J. Ryan, Renzie Flint, Carol Lynn George, Gary Wiseman, Carl Wiseman, Earl Drake, Mark Evans, Susan Nierman, Davena Lloyd, John Shober and Kenneth Wiseman.

Mrs. Ruby Evans prepared the church-wagon, which met the riders at the pumping station. Others taking part in the activities included Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Chidester, Betsy Syckes, Robert Wenrich, Shelby Syckes, Mrs. Mounsey Smoak, Mrs. John Earsom, Robert Nierman, Seymour Evans and Shirley Earsom.

Susan Duckworth Marks Birthday

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Duckworth, 611 Greene Street, entertained with a party honoring their daughter, Susan, on her seventh birthday. The decorations were carried out in the Halloween theme.

Games were played and prizes won by Karen Welsh, Jane Grabenstein, Beth Ann Duckworth, Susan Woolaid and Wendy Geatz.

Guests were Catherine Malloy, Mary Carol Connelly, Chris Humbertson, Denise Meister, Brenda included Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Chidester, Betsy Syckes, Robert Wenrich, Shelby Syckes, Mrs. Mounsey Smoak, Mrs. John Earsom, Robert Nierman, Seymour Evans and Shirley Earsom.

MAKES SUPREME VISITATION—Mrs. Minnie T. Brehmer, Miami, Fla., queen of the Supreme Temple, Daughters of the Nile, made her supreme visitation to Re Temple, 118 Cumberland, Monday. A ceremonial for three candidates featured the afternoon session, which was held at the Masonic Temple. The banquet and entertainment were held at the Ali Ghan Country Club. Left to right are Mrs. Charlotte E. Nolte, Baltimore, past supreme queen and supreme deputy organizer at large; Mrs. Brehmer, Mrs. Ethel Zimmerman, queen of Re Temple; and Mrs. Mabel O. Heckman, Baltimore, supreme princess Nydia.

Republican Women Will Have Open Meeting

The general meeting of the Cumberland Republican Women's Club today will be an open meeting. Mrs. Arthur A. Verner urges that all members "bring their friends who are interested in doing volunteer work November 1 through November 8." It will be held at 1:30 p. m. in the Woman's Civic Club house.

Mrs. Paul Fletcher will discuss the duties of the volunteer worker and how to coordinate it with precinct work November 8.

Participating in the program as guests will be J. Glenn Beall, Jr., in charge of precincts for the state central committee; Woodward D. Pealer and Mrs. Woodrow W. Gurley, representing the Young Republican Women.

A brief business session will be conducted by Mrs. Verner, preceding the program.

"Tag Day" To Be Held Saturday

The Veterans of World War I and Ladies Auxiliary 1125 will sponsor the sale of tags on the streets all day October 22. Mrs. Chloe Reynolds, chairman for the auxiliary, announces.

All the money received from the sale of tags will go for the unit's hospital work. The public is asked to assist.

Sellers will wear red, white and blue arm bands. High school girls are asked to volunteer and are to call Mrs. Reynolds, PA 2-4814 by tomorrow.

Mark Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Roy M. Breighner, 137 Elder Street, entertained in celebration of their 48th wedding anniversary. Sunday at their summer cottage, Oldtown Road, Approximately 30 attended.

Plan Party

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Bowman's Addition Volunteer Fire Company formulated plans for a Halloween party at the meeting conducted by Mrs. Amanda Nycum, in the fire hall. It will be October 26. Mrs. Melinda Riley and Mrs. Leona Durst are in charge of arrangements.

Routine reports were given. Mrs. George Nycum offered prayer. Mrs. Arlene Smith and Mrs. Mae Bonner won the awards.

A chicken dinner will be served Friday from 5 until 7 at Camp Minco for the benefit of the Mineral County 4-H Leaders' Association.

Attend School Food Service Meeting

Mrs. Gladys Eaton, supervisor of Allegany county school cafeterias, with 17 workers and managers attended the seventh annual Maryland School Food Service Association fall meeting. It was held October 13 in Northwestern High School, Hyattsville.

Speakers were Martin Garber, director of food distribution division, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington; and Miss Janet McFadden, home economist of the department.

Attending from Allegany county schools were Mrs. Eaton, Mrs. Nettie Willis, Mrs. Elizabeth Rizer, Mrs. Geneva Diehl, Mrs. Ida DeVore, Mrs. Kathleen Markwood, Mrs. Philomena Chappell, Miss Deloris Stuckey, Mrs. Sylvia Odgen, Mrs. Elsie Blank, Mrs. Eleanor Howsare, Mrs. Grace Bolyard, Mrs. Edith Lechlitter, Mrs. Oleta Heavner, managers; Mrs. Dorothy Cage, Mrs. Beulah Griffin and Mrs. Maude Uhl, workers and head cooks.

Pleasant Valley Club Elects

The Pleasant Valley Homemakers Club elected Mrs. Robert Dermer vice president; Mrs. Carl Hehner, secretary and Mrs. Robert Altmeyer assistant secretary, at the meeting at the home of Mrs. James David, Sr., Flintstone. The hostess gave the nominating committee report.

Mrs. Edgar Repphann conducted the meeting and urged the members to attend the homemakers annual Achievement Day program, which will be November 1 at St. Luke's Lutheran Church, Frederick Street.

Following the Lord's Prayer, Mrs. Robert Altmeyer read the Scripture. Mrs. Roy Smith read, "No Other Place." The history of the hymn, "Abide with Me," was given by Mrs. Carl Hehner, then it was sung by the group. Roll call was answered with each member mentioning her favorite piece of furniture. A discussion followed. Routine reports were given.

A letter from the Farm Bureau was read by Mrs. Lola Hehner. It was inviting the members to join the Farm Bureau and transfer Blue Cross to that organization. Final plans were made for the dinner at Nave's Dining Room, and visit to The Bowler.

It was announced that Mrs. Carl Hehner will have a picture demonstration at the next meeting, which will be November 7 at the home of Mrs. Altmeyer, Baltimore Pike.

The meeting closed with the group singing, "Home on the Range." Refreshments were served with Mrs. Ambrose Miltenberger assisting the hostess.

Woman To Woman

By PATRICIA MCGORMACK
NEW YORK (UPI)—Twenty-two million Americans are edentulous—toothless.

And in all age groups, the percentage of those edentulous is slightly higher for women than for men.

This information comes via a new Public Health Service report based on a pioneer nationwide survey of dental disease.

The health sleuths found that among every 100 males, 11.9 had lost all teeth. Among females, the figure was 14.1 per 100.

The dental detectives said that loss of teeth occurs most often as the result of two of the most common diseases affecting Americans: dental decay and periodontal disease.

During his or her lifetime, nearly every person has one or both of these ailments, and when treatment is too long delayed, tooth loss results.

Only four per cent of persons in the 25 to 34 year age bracket were found edentulous, but the percentage increased with each succeeding age group. The PHS said the problem reaches a peak of 67 per cent among persons 75 years of age and over.

In rural areas, it was found that there's a slightly higher incidence of toothlessness than in city areas. The proportion of edentulous in both areas, however, was substantially higher in the white population.

As might be expected, the fact-finders reported that the proportion of edentulous was smaller among members of high income families than among members of low income families.

It also was reported smaller among persons in families where the family head had at least one year of college than among persons in families where the family head had less schooling.

Included in the survey were questions about individual schedules regarding routine visits to a dentist. The PHS reported that those with some or all of their natural teeth tended to visit the dentist more frequently than did those found without their own teeth.

On the average, males with teeth of their own reported that they visited the dentist 1.5 times a year. Females with their own teeth said they tended to make, on the average, 1.9 visits a year to the dentist.

NEW YORK (AP)—With the stock market having nudged toward 600 on the Dow Jones industrial average, some experts see trouble ahead.

The 600 area may prove to be a major obstacle to further gains in the current rally, said Investors Advisory Institute.

"In view of the continued softening of business, there is no doubt that a large number of investors were discouraged by their failure to sell some of their more vulnerable stock holdings when the industrial average breached the 600 support zone," according to the institute.

"Should the average again reach this level these same investors are likely to feel that they have a second chance to do so. Accordingly, a considerable measure of deferred liquidation may be forthcoming."

The investment house, Hornblower & Weeks, comments that a trend reversal probably isn't just around the corner, as optimists hope, but could be nearer than pessimists believe.

"Even though the readjustment seems to have further to go before speculative excesses of the past have been corrected," the firm says, "it is well to remember that the purge has been in progress for more than a year and that many important segments of the list already have retraced substantial portions of earlier advances."

The financial publication, Barron's, asserts that the decline in corporate profits, more than any other single factor, makes sophisticated observers doubt that such rallies as last week's are the beginning of a sustained advance by stock prices.

Industrial activity has failed to show the normal seasonal rise, Barron's points out and adds: "Since the near-term outlook for business remains questionable, prospects for a vigorous upswing in earnings appear even more dubious. Nothing short of the expectation of such an upswing can spark a new bull market."

Continuing to show pronounced strength, oil shares appear to have bottomed out after almost two years of weakness, says Oil Statistics Co., an affiliate of the business advisory organization, Spear & Staff, Inc. Oil stocks are up 14 per cent from their June low point.

Meeting Planned On Airline

Horses May Soon Help Man Curb Allergies

LONDON (AP) — The horse, well known to be a noble animal, may soon help rid the human race of asthma and hay fever, a British scientist said Monday.

Dr. W. R. Wooldridge, scientific director of the Animal Health Trust—a research group looking into the welfare of animals, said a substance which seems to defeat allergies has recently been discovered at the Equine Research Station at Newmarket, headquarters of British horse racing.

The substance was found in certain white cells in the blood of race horses. It played an active part in controlling histamine, a chemical in animal tissues which is frequently the cause of surgical and accidental shock, skin lesions of the nettle rash type and such allergies as asthma and hay fever.

Wooldridge, speaking at a luncheon meeting of the Animal Health Trust, said the discovery came during a prolonged inquiry into the basic function of the blood of race horses. He went on: The substance is of such far-reaching potential for human sufferers that workers in the medical research council of the National Research Development Council are cooperating in its development.

Research has shown that excess production of histamine in the body and its subsequent ill-effects were automatically reduced in the presence of white blood cells called "eosinophil leucocytes."

Now, after more than a year's work, the station has evolved a technique for recovering these cells alive and normal from the blood of horses and in a high degree of purity. The result is an extract more powerfully antihistaminic and anti-inflammatory than any so far discovered.

Crippled Boy Promised Postcard From Queen

NEW YORK (UPI)—A 9-year-old polio victim from Pennsylvania failed to get the autograph legs in braces, was standing before Denmark's Queen Ingrid Monday, but he got something even better—her promise to send him a postcard from Copenhagen.

To the royal visitor, he promptly wrote a postcard from his shirt pocket. Mrs. George Vernoo, Tunkhan, Pa., armed himself with a pencil and a piece of paper when told him. "We never give autographs, but I'll send you a postcard from the Institute of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation here, where he lives."

Social Satire Features Couple's Stage Show

By JACK GAVER

NEW YORK (UPI) — The low-pressure but sharply penetrating social satire of Mike Nichols and Elaine May, who are known to night club and television audiences, has been brought to the stage of the John Golden Theater with amusing results.

The two young performers carry the whole program without help from anyone else. In their case, extra help would be harmful.

There are those who feel that these one and two-person attractions that have been increasing in recent years do not make for quite a fully satisfying entertainment in a theater — that a shorter program in a night club would be more effective and satisfying. But Nichols and May may change that outlook.

Gives Much Pleasure

They don't seem to be stretching anything out just to fill time, and while the evening is a little on the short side, still they give so much pleasure that most should be satisfied.

"An Evening With Mike Nichols and Elaine May" had been presented by Alexander H. Cohen in his second season of what he calls his Nine O'Clock Theater. Cohen believes that those who want to go to the theater purely for fun entertainment also like to have time to dine leisurely beforehand. His shows start at 9 p.m.

One of the big assets of Nichols and May is that they always give the impression of improvisation even with their oldest material.

In this production they are doing a couple of things well known to TV and night club audiences — the man trying to get back his last dime from a pay phone and the teenagers on a first date in the back seat of an automobile.

Nichols Is Devastating

A major section of the evening is devoted to a takeoff on a Parent-Teachers' Association fund-raising night. Miss May presides in simpering fashion while battling a huge chrysanthemum corsage that is constantly shedding. Nichols is brought on as the speaker of the event, portraying a decadent type of playwright named Alabama Glass. He is devastating.

A study in adultery as it might be regarded in America, Britain and France, a mother talking long distance to her son who works at a missile launching base, a disc jockey interviewing a dim-witted movie star and a jibe at suburban living also are on the bill.

The two wind up with some real improvisation in which members of the audience supply expressions that can be used as opening and closing lines of situations that the pair can act out in any one of varied styles.

Track Bus Service

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Interstate Commerce Commission Tuesday authorized the Washington, Virginia & Maryland Coach Co., Arlington, Va., to operate a seasonal passenger bus service between points in Arlington and Fairfax counties, Va., and Maryland racetracks.

The authority includes service to tracks at Bel Air, Timonium, Hagerstown, Laurel, Baltimore, Marlboro, Bowie and Rosecroft.

The Capea Is Bullfighting At Its Most Barbarous

By NEIL DOUGALL

MADRID (UPI) — Once a year the men of the little villages scattered throughout Central Spain risk their lives in one of the most primitive, perilous sporting events in existence — the Capea.

The event is bullfighting at its most barbarous.

It takes place in the cobbled central square of the town, the ring a makeshift affair of dozens of wooden carts roped together, or a temporary square of eight-foot-high palings spaced about a foot apart.

And in this primitive arena the men of the town — and sometimes the teenage girls — joust with death during the town's annual fiesta.

May Rent Bull

Usually, the city buys several fighting bulls. They may be only two-and-a-half years old and not too dangerous. Or they may be all of seven hulking years of age, with wide-spread horns.

If the town is too poor to buy the bull, it may rent one that has been used in other Capeas — and that has killed several men already.

Often the city hall forms one side of the bull ring, and the bulls are penned up in one of its ground floor rooms, to be let into the ring from the foyer.

Half an hour before the Capea starts, the ring is filled with men and boys, many of them carrying old, floppy bullfighter's capes.

The rest of the town is jammed into shaky stands or packed beneath the stands against the palings.

Space The Palings

The palings are spaced a foot apart for one good reason. A pursued man can slip through them by turning sideways. A bull's wide horns keep him in the ring.

Suddenly a trumpet wails for the Capea to begin. Most of the jaunty strutters head quickly for the fence, and the bull charges into the ring.

Several of the bravest men wait for him with their capes, and pass him around amongst each other clumsily.

"If fire strikes your home in the year ahead, the chances are three to one that it will be the result of carelessness or forgetfulness," the board said.

West Germany's Strength Rises Greatly In Only 10 Years

By JOHN A. CALLCOTT

BONN (UPI) — A mere 10 years ago, Germany had barely raised its head above the ruins of World War II.

It also was split down the middle by an Iron Curtain.

Paradoxically, West Germany today is economically powerful enough to threaten trade sanctions against the Soviet Union, the very country which has blocked German reunification by maintaining that curtain.

In late September, West Germany cancelled its trade agreement with East Germany in reprisal to Communist-imposed travel restrictions on West Germans. Figures show that West Germany has plenty of economic power to back up any such decisions.

In practically every field, West Germany glows with economic health.

Unemployment Rate Drops

In 1950, West Germany's unemployment rate of 10 per cent was higher than in Belgium, Britain, Italy, Holland or Denmark. Today, West Germany's unemployment rate is only 2.4 per cent, lower than any other of the five countries.

Wages rose 56 per cent between 1950 and 1959, compared to 26 per cent in the United States and 20 per cent in Great Britain.

Prices, on the other hand, rose in the same period by only 21 per cent while in France they rose 67 per cent, in Britain by 47 per cent, and in Italy by 37 per cent. Only the U.S. recorded the same low price increase.

Germans have not been slow in saving their money, either. In 1950, savings totaled only 92 marks per citizen. Today, the figure is 862 marks.

Between 1950 and 1959, Germany's industrial production increased by 130 per cent.

Germans Save And Buy

West Germany today has 20 times the gold and currency reserves it had in 1950 — 24 billion marks of which 11 billion marks is in gold.

Assuming 1950 equals 100, the gross national product index rose to 171 by 1959.

While, saving, Germans also brought — only 45 eggs per head per year in 1949, but 217 in 1959. They bought over five times more coffee, twice as much butter, three times more beer, and twice as much champagne in 1959 as in 1949.

In 1958, only 8 per cent of all households had television sets. Now TV sets are in 22 per cent of all homes. Since 1950, the number of privately owned automobiles has trebled. Of all homes, 62 per cent have electric vacuum cleaners, while in 1953 the figure was only 22 per cent.

Things are far different in East Germany, where the Soviets have a puppet government. One comparison with West Germany illustrates this.

Today, over 7 per cent of all West Germans own a private automobile. In East Germany only seven-tenths of 1 per cent.

DEATHS AND FUNERAL NOTICESMRS. C. L. SMITHER

Mrs. Olive S. Smither, 78, widow of Dr. C. L. Smither, died October 8 in a Baltimore hospital. Recently she had been residing in Prince Frederick, Calvert County.

Dr. Smither practiced dentistry here for many years and the couple resided at 507 Rose Hill Avenue. While residents here, Dr. and Mrs. Smither were members of Emmanuel Episcopal Church and were active in community affairs.

She is survived by a son, Herbert Smither; two sisters, Mrs. William Linthicum and Mrs. John Latimer; two brothers, Alexander and William Somerville, and a niece, Mrs. John D. Moore.

Funeral services were conducted at St. Paul's Church in Prince Frederick and burial was in the church cemetery.

STARK L. COBERLEY

PARSONS, W. Va. — Stark L. Coberley, 76, of 407 Chestnut Street, died yesterday after an illness of several months.

Mr. Coberley was a former sheriff and justice of the peace of Tucker County.

A native of Randolph County, Mr. Coberley was a son of the late James G. and Mary E. (Hyer) Coberley. Mr. Coberley was twice married and his first wife, Freda E. (Hovemale) Coberley, died in 1943.

Prior to his retirement a number of years ago, he was engaged in the furniture business here. Mr. Coberley also managed a lumber company in Portwood and Harlan, Ky., and at one time was employed by State Road Commission in Elkins.

He was a member of First Presbyterian Church, Pythagoras Lodge 128, AF & AM and the United Commercial Travelers. In 1950 he received his 50-year plaque from the UCT.

Surviving are his widow, Winona (Hart) Dumire Coberley; a brother, Guy Coberley, Montrose; a step-daughter, Mrs. M. J. Kepner, Kansas City, Kan.; two step-grandchildren and a number of nieces and nephews.

The body will be at the Greenleaf Funeral Home after 7:30 p. m. today.

Services will be conducted there Friday at 2 p. m. by Rev. John Finley and Rev. A. Brook Withers. Burial will be in Parsons Cemetery, where ritualistic rites will be conducted at graveside by Pythagoras Lodge.

MRS. JOHN E. CLAUSON

CORRIGANVILLE — Mrs. Clara Melinda Clauson, 87, of here, widow of John Edward Clauson, died Monday while visiting at the home of her niece, Anna Weaver, of Meyersdale.

Born September 5, 1873 at Meyersdale, she was a daughter of the late John and Elizabeth (May) Knepp.

Surviving are four children, Mrs. Grace Smith, of here, Mrs. LaAnna Beckman, Washington, Oscar H. Clauson, Detroit, and William E. Clauson, also of here; five grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

She was a member of St. John's United Church of Christ.

The body is at the Ziegler Funeral Home where the family will receive friends from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p. m.

Services will be conducted at the funeral home Thursday at 10 a. m. by Rev. John Zinn, pastor of St. John's Church, and interment will be in Rose Hill Cemetery.

MISS NELLIE BERKENBAUGH
LONA CONING — Miss Nellie Berkenbaugh, 85, of here, died Monday at Allegany County Infirmary, Cumberland.

A native of here, she was a daughter of the late Leopold and Sarah (Rowan) Berkenbaugh.

Surviving is one sister, Mrs. Mary Walsh, Baltimore.

The body is at the Eichhorn Funeral Home where the family will receive friends from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p. m. The rosary will be recited at the funeral home today at 7:30 p. m.

A requiem mass will be celebrated Thursday at 9 a. m. at St. Mary's Catholic Church by Rev. Thomas Fannon, and interment will be in the church cemetery.

Mrs. Berkenbaugh was a member of the Sodality of St. Mary's.

HOMER B. BRILL JR.

County Gets Audit Report

Allegany County wound up with a surplus of $388,278 at the end of the 1959-60 year June 30, an official audit of the treasurer's books revealed yesterday.

A complete report on the annual audit by James P. Rogers, CPA, Towson, was not available at the meeting of the Board of Allegany County Commissioners.

A meeting on the report was held by the commissioners and Rogers last night in the Court House.

The actual surplus of $388,278 was $27,443 lower than the commissioners had estimated when the budget was set in April.

At that time, the board figured the unexpended balance would be $415,722.

But missing the guess by $27,443 does not pose any problems for the county due to the large surplus.

Mrs. Jennie Sills, county auditor, said Rogers has informed her that an estimate $50,000 under or $50,000 is close for figuring a budget the size of the county's.

It was pointed out that the county saved $9,000 last year under the new central tax collection system.

Previously there were three collectors who worked on a commission basis. Now the tax office is centralized in the Court House with a collector on a set income.

The county has long term debt of $7,657,790 and uses an assessable base of $172,000,000.

An average of 287 forest fires broke out every day during 1959 for a total of 7,281 more than in 1958.

WMU Conference To Be Tomorrow

Mrs. Wayman L. Calhoun, mission worker, will be guest speaker at the annual meeting of the Baptist Western Association Western Missionary Union, tomorrow, at 1:30 in Second Baptist Church, city. Rev. Dallas Bivins, missionary, also will speak.

A graduate of Ouachita Baptist College, Arkansas, Mrs. Calhoun worked with the Home Mission Board in Richmond, Va., and the Fulton Goodwill Center, as well as with the Indians in Ponca City, Oklahoma.

Officers will be installed by Miss Josephine Norwood, state WMU executive secretary. Those wishing to stay for the evening service are to bring a box lunch. Salad and beverage will be served.

Meeting Friday

FROSTBURG — Mrs. John Ritchie, Wrights Crossing, will be hostess Friday at 8 p. m. to the Sunergoi Society of First Presbyterian Church. Mrs. Charles Richardson will preside and the devotional will be brought by Mrs. Oren Lemmert.

The term "terra cotta" is derived from the Italian and means "fired earth." It was used extensively as a structural architectural decoration during the days of early Greece and Rome when it was produced with ceramic glazes as well as with natural finishes.

Social Studies Meetings Set At County Schools

Two social studies meetings for principals and teachers of elementary schools of Allegany County will be held today.

Consultant will be Dr. George Manolakes, chairman, Department of Early Childhood and Elementary Education, New York University.

The following schedule has been arranged:

9 a. m. to 12 noon—West Side School and 2 p. m. to 4 p. m., Parkside School in LaVale.

At each session Dr. Manolakes will present the trends, concepts and content which are currently being emphasized in elementary social studies. Discussions will follow the presentation.

Mrs. Grace Dorsey and Mrs. Mildred Sowers, state supervisors, will also attend the meetings according to Margaret E. Doak, Elizabeth I. Flake and Mildred E. Willison, supervisors of elementary education in Allegany County public schools, who arranged the meetings.

Legion Post 13 To Sponsor Dance

Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion, will open its fall dancing season with a free dance Thursday night at the post home, 208 Harrison Street.

Dancing will be from 9 p. m. until midnight and to the music of the Rhythmairs. The dance is open to the public, post officials said.

"This needn't interfere with the taste-appeal of the meal, because the foods which contain the essential nutrients can all be prepared in an appetizing manner. Most homemakers realize the need for protein, minerals and vitamins for the welfare of their family, but sometimes they are not certain which foods are the best sources of the amounts which are needed."

"Take protein for instance," Miss Weiser said. "This nutrient is necessary to build, maintain and repair body tissues, to help in the formation of body hormones and to help build resistance to disease. In extreme cases of protein deficiency there may be poor muscle and posture tone, lowered resistance to disease, premature aging, anemia, stunted growth in children, tissue degeneration and slow recovery from illness and surgery."

Knowing all this, the homemaker still needs to know what foods provide protein and how much the different members of her family need. Miss Weiser stated the recommended daily allowance of protein for an adult man is 70 grams. The same amount is recommended for 10-12 year old boys and girls. Even greater amounts are needed by teenagers, especially boys.

A boy between 13 and 19 requires 100 gram of protein daily. An adult woman needs 58 grams; a teenage girl, up to 80 grams. These figures are based on the daily allowances recommended by the Food and Nutrition Board of the National Research Council.

She said the foods containing the most abundant amounts of protein include: veal, liver, beef, pork, lamb, fresh fish, chicken and turkey. The amount of protein provided by a 3 1/2 ounce serving of any of these ranges from 25 to 33 grams. In addition, dairy products, eggs, canned fish and other meats such as frankfurters and luncheon meats are moderate sources of protein.

Recipes to be prepared during the session today include: Leg of lamb; golden gems, an apricot bar cookie; treasure chest pork chops, rib pork chops with cashew stuffing; southern pot-roast, a meat cutting as well as cooking demonstration will be included in the preparation of this dish: apple rolls, biscuit mix, rolled, filled with sliced apples or applesauce, sliced and baked in a syrup; liver fantastique, beef or pork liver baked in the oven in a sauce containing onion, green pepper, brown sugar, vinegar, salt, pepper, marjoram and rosemary; hgm turnovers, rolled ham slices containing a rice mixture and served with a cranberry sauce; small fry's surprise, luncheon meat, applesauce and sweet potatoes, aimed especially at pleasing the youngsters; oatmeal bread; host's dinner, especially for the men folks, fresh beef brisket with cabbage.

The nation's proved reserve of liquid petroleum grew from 23.4 billion barrels in 1950 to 38.2 billion barrels in 1959.

Early Years Of Century Discussed By Principals

"A full understanding of the issues and challenges of today is possible only through some understandings of the times and events of yesterday" was the theme of a meeting yesterday of principals of public high schools in Allegany County.

Richard T. Rizer, assistant superintendent of county schools, was in charge of the meeting. He said that a film, "The Life and Times of Teddy Roosevelt" was shown.

Chairman of the meeting was Victor D. Heisey, principal of Fort Hill, who led a discussion on the economic life, human welfare, political philosophy, national prestige and technology in connection with the concepts of America during the first 20 years of this century.

Members of the panel included Mrs. Elsie H. Roland, principal of Flintstone High School, and Paul Beable, Valley High principal. Mrs. Roland discussed events and activities which definitely forecast the future for our nation, and effects of the first 20 years on philosophy of secondary education, curriculum design and content, methods and materials of teaching, and understanding people—particularly the growth and development of children.

Mr. Beable discussed in what respects were "national issues" the same or different during this period as compared with today and what strong implications for educational problems of today were evidenced in this segment of American history.

Other high school principals present were W. Ardell Haines, Allegany; Joseph H. Pellerzi, Oldtown; Wayne W. Hill, Beall High; Kenneth E. Sheetz, Bruce; Oberlin T. Chaney, Cresaptown; Earl F. Brain, Beall Elementary, and Lula M. Blonskey, Pennsylvania Avenue.

Miss Ruth McColly, supervisor of home economics, Jack Petry, supervisors of high schools, also were present.

Men Face Sentencing In Larceny Case

Donald Lee Canfield and Paul Wilson Gray, who pleaded guilty to a charge of grand larceny when they appeared before Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris October 4 in Allegany County Circuit Court are slated to be sentenced today.

According to an information filed in court by the state's attorney's office, the two men were charged with the theft of 500 feet of insulated copper cable from the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company. A value of $159 was placed on the cable, authorities said.

Dried Sludge Will Nourish Levee Grasses

Dried sludge from the city's sewage treatment plant is being used to maintain the levees of the Cumberland-Ridgeley flood protection program.

More than 40 loads of sludge have been stockpiled by the Flood Maintenance crew and will be used as a dressing for the grass on the top of the flood control levees.

C. R. Nuzum, city engineer, said more of the sludge will be secured as necessary.

The sludge is collected from the sludge beds at the plant as it dries by the flood control crews and is air dried so it can be applied by spreader.

The sludge will be applied this fall to the tops of the levees, where it will be broken down into topsoil.

The sludge is not a fertilizer, since it is not rich enough for such a classification, but is considered a valuable soil conditioner.

Cresaptown Makes Prevention Stress

Volunteer firemen of Cresaptown had a successful Fire Prevention Week program last week.

Joseph Wenrich gave talks to 627 pupils and 22 teachers at the school in that community, a fire drill was held and children cleared the building in less than two minutes.

There was good attendance at the "open house" at the fire hall including a visit by four dens of Cub Scouts.

Frostburg Man Seeks Beverage License

Harold E. Seifarth, Frostburg, has applied to the Allegany County Board of Alcoholic Beverages License Commissioners for a Class A beer, wine, and liquor license.

The location of the premises is Bedford Road and the owner of the premises is Harry Young.

Four Dwelling Permits Issued

Permits for four dwellings to be built at a total cost of about $37,000 have been issued by James G. Stevenson, clerk of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners.

Kermit B. Fairlinger, RD 2, Box 384, Frostburg, was issued a permit to build a 28 by 48 brick home at a cost of about $13,000. It will have a concrete block foundation, composition roof and a basement.

Fier and Burgess, 135 North Centre Street, were issued permits to build two brick homes on Valley View Drive in LaVale.

The dwellings, to be built at a cost of about $8,000 each, will have concrete block foundations, asphalt shingle roof and a basement.

Burgess and Garner, 135 North Centre Street, were issued a permit to construct a brick dwelling on the same drive. It will measure 24 by 38 by 36 feet and will have a concrete block foundation, asphalt shingle roof and a basement.

Board Gets Letter On Culvert Work

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday considered a request from a Frostburg man who is seeking improvement work to the front of his property.

Foster Friend wrote to the Board requesting a culvert in front of his property provided the ditch is graded. The matter was referred to Harry Skelly, county roads supervisor.

Cites Mathias Votes

Plans for the rally were completed by Victor M. Hebb, member of the Republican State Central Committee.

Edward T. Evans, State Central Committee treasurer, introduced State Senator Charles M. See, who was master of ceremonies.

Del. Estel C. Kelley urged full support for Charles McC. Mathias, Republican candidate for Congress from Maryland's Sixth District.

He said rumors are being circulated by those who are in favor of Mr. Mathias' opponent have distorted the GOP candidate's voting record in the General Assembly.

Del. Kelley said there were only three important labor bills in the 1959 Legislature and that Del. Mathias voted for all three.

Mathias, he said, was a co-sponsor of a bill which would have exempted labor halls from taxation, as are fraternal organizations.

The proposal, he said, died in a Democratic controlled Judiciary committee.

County Asked To Plea For Boyd Payton

The Board of Allegany County Commissioners yesterday was asked by the president of Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, to file a letter of appeal for clemency for Boyd A. Payton.

But whether or not the letter is sent to Gov. Luther Hodges of North Carolina depends on a ruling by County Attorney Leslie J. Clark.

John G. Thomas, Local 1874 president, said Payton, a former Cresaptown resident and one of the key persons in the early formation of the big local here, is scheduled to start a prison term of six to ten years in the North Carolina penitentiary.

He was convicted along with seven other men of conspiracy to bomb the Harriett-Henderson, N. C., cotton mill during a long strike last year.

Payton is Carolinas director of the TWUA. Thomas explained that the only recourse left for Payton is executive clemency from Gov. Hodges. The U. S. Supreme Court last week refused to review the case.

Board President John J. Rowan said he was for sending the letter immediately. But the other two commissioners, William A. Wilson and John T. Mason said they felt an opinion should be obtained from the board's attorney, Leslie J. Clark, before doing so.

The action of the board was withheld pending the decision of Clark.

Rowan said the board should show consideration for Payton, whom he knew personally when both were employed at Amcelle Plant of Celanese Fibers Company.

Rowan pointed out that Payton had done much in the formation of the big union here.

Lutherans Plan Annual Meeting Here Next Week

The 78th annual convention of United Lutheran Church Women of the Evangelical Lutheran Synod of Maryland will be held Wednesday, October 26, and Thursday, October 27, in St. Paul's Lutheran Church.

Diver Is Hired To Make Check Of Lake Gates

The City of Cumberland Water Department is bringing a diver here Thursday, October 27, along with an assistant and William Bartles, project engineer for the city, to check the condition of the sluice gates at the Lake Gordon gatehouse to determine what repairs are necessary.

The diver is expected to arrive here Thursday, October 27, along with an assistant and William Bartles, project engineer for the city. They will get here about noon and plan to spend the afternoon preparing for the work. The descent by the diver will be made Friday, under present plans.

Water Commissioner G. Ray Light said yesterday that it has been estimated cost of the project, including repairs and expense of the diver will be $10,000. This figure could change depending on what conditions the diver finds.

City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum said the descent will be made in 83 feet of water. The diver will check both the inside and outside of the sluice gates. It will take him 45 minutes for the descent and a similar time for the ascent, Nuzum said.

In addition to a report on regular repairs, it is also hoped that the condition of the bottom or blow-off sluice gates can be determined so that the consultant can work out a logical and economical method of repairing and restoring these gates to a working condition. The blow-off gate has not worked properly for a number of years.

No inspection of the gatehouse has been made since it was constructed during the period 1911-1912 and Light said the work is long overdue.

The diver's inspection is timed so that it occurs when there is the least demand on the water supply and the filtration plant can be shut down without affecting service.

This is the first time in many years that the local church has been host to the convention which will draw representatives from 132 organizations throughout Maryland and the District of Columbia.

Mrs. Charles F. Trunk Jr., Frederick, state president, will have charge of the opening event on the program which will be registration at 9:30 a. m. on October 26.

At 11 a. m. the convention will get underway with the service of Holy Communion administered by the pastor of the host church, Rev. John F. Sammel.

The theme of the session will be "Rise Up and Serve the Lord." Mrs. Stanley B. Jennings, Taneytown, chaplain, will speak on "Rise Up, In Gratitude" at 2 p. m. on the opening day.

Greetings from the host church will be extended by Miss Margaret Beck of the host church and Rev. Dr. J. Frank Fife, Baltimore, synod president.

Reports, made by the credential, program and convention committees will be followed by reports of the officers and sectional presidents.

Mrs. Harry C. Utterback, LaVale, is president of Mountain Conference of which Cumberland and Frostburg are a part.

Speakers will be Rev. Dr. N. J. Gould Wickey, executive director of the National Lutheran Education conference, and Miss Helene H. Harder, missionary of Japan.

Mrs. Albert R. Fischer, Baltimore, vice president, will preside at the convention dinner at 6 p. m. in the educational building of the host church. Mrs. Charles Hauser, Harrisburg, Pa., will be the speaker.

Thursday morning will have the election of officers and committee chairmen and an address by Rev. Carl W. Folkemer, STM, pastor of St. John's Lutheran Church, Linthicum Heights.

A period Thursday morning will be devoted to questions from delegates to the various committee chairmen and officers.

The final afternoon sessions will be devoted to workshop demonstrations by committees on membership, education, Christian service and offerings.

Delegates from Cumberland will be Mrs. Ruth Hoyle, Mrs. Eleanor Weber, Mrs. Coit Speicher, Mrs. Martha Weller, Mrs. Myrtle Hurley, Mrs. John Whalley and Mrs. Wallace Ulery. From Frostburg will be Mrs. Alfred Fritz.

Man Found Guilty In Assault Case

An Allegany County Circuit Court jury yesterday found a South End father of three children guilty of assault as a result of pointing a loaded .16 gauge shotgun at two Cumberland police officers.

Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris, withheld sentencing until today the defendant, Raymond Judy, of First Street. This was an appeal from Trial Magistrate's Court.

Officers Murl Boggs and William Norris of the city police force testified that headquarters received a call from South End on the night of September 18.

A complaint was made concerning a man drinking intoxicants and wielding a shotgun.

Upon arriving at the door of the Judy home, Judy met them at the door, and pointed the gun at them. They overpowered the man and took the gun from him, they said.

Judy maintained that he gave up the bolt action shotgun easily and made no threats.

James S. Getty, state's attorney, who prosecuted the case along with Donald A. Mason, his assistant, asked the jury to give notice to gun wielders that their actions will not be tolerated in this county.

The fact that the gun was pointed, loaded or unloaded, constitutes assault under Maryland law, he said.

Judy's attorney, Harold M. Naughton, appealed to the jurors that Judy had not threatened the officers, gave up the gun without protest.

He said Judy is married and has the responsibility of supporting an invalid wife and three children.

In calling for a verdict of not guilty, he pointed out that the state had brought out things in Judy's past record that were done when he was a mere youngster.

Joseph I. Mattingly, this city, was foreman of the jury of 11 men and one woman.

To Hold Breakfast

Local Democratic leaders will meet informally with Rep. John R. Foley of the Sixth District at a "Dutch treat" breakfast Thursday at 8:30 p. m. in the Fort Cumberland Hotel.

Group Is Checking Orchards In Area

A committee appointed by Gov. William Underwood of West Virginia is touring the heart of the Eastern Panhandle apple country, making an on-the-spot check of the problems of supplying labor during harvest season.

The group with F. Duane Hill, director of the state Department of Employment Security, met Monday with several of the large owners of large Hampshire County orchards in the office of Mountain Fruit Sales Inc., at Romney.

After an overnight stay in Romney, they went to the James Swisher Orchard near Romney yesterday and from there on to Paw Paw where they visited the operations of Consolidated Orchard Company.

The tour will extend through Morgan, Jefferson and Berkeley counties and will end on Thursday.

At Monday's meeting, the growers outlined the various problems encountered with getting qualified seasonal help to pick apples and peaches.

They suggested better screening of applicants and listed "muscles" and a willingness to work as the most desirable aids for a worker.

The owner of the small, marginal farm, who needs outside income to supplement his farm earnings, was concluded to be the best type of harvest employee.

It was pointed out that the Department of Employment Security at its office in Martinsburg devoted much time in lining up crews, starting as early as February and getting workers from as far away as Florida.

The aim of this committee is two-fold, find jobs for West Virginia unemployed, and find workers for West Virginia orchards.

Besides Hill, others on the committee are Richard Kennell, commissioner of the Department of Labor; Ward Nicklin, district administrator of the Department of Public Assistance, Martinsburg.

John O. Crawford, farm placement supervisor for the Department of Employment Security.

Foley's Harp Loses Its Only String

For several weeks now, it has seemed that Rep. John R. Foley's campaigning harp had but one string—the alleged failure of his opponent, Frederick County Delegate Charles McC. Mathias, to vote on a great many roll call votes in the House of Delegates. And now it turns out that Mr. Foley's figures were all wrong, and tuang, there goes the lone string on Mr. Foley's harp.

Those who have been following the Sixth District campaign closely will be aware that Rep. Foley has contended that Del. Mathias failed to vote on a great many bills, and that he missed 36 of 142 quorum calls in the 1959 session of the General Assembly. Aside from the fact that there were only 68 quorum calls during that session, it has been established that the vote recording machine obviously did not work properly, not only for Del. Mathias but for some other members. And now it comes to light that Del. Mathias can prove that he voted on 97 per cent of the 47 bills that can be identified as those Mr. Foley claims he didn't vote on.

Now that this issue apparently has been disposed of, we wonder what is left for Mr. Foley to campaign on. His record if so, he is going to have some persuasive talking to do. For Mr. Foley has managed in two years to place himself among the ten biggest spenders in Congress, according to a record of voting on money bills compiled by Congressional Quarterly. He says he's proud of the record. True, it apparently has got him the reluctant and noticeably delayed support of organized labor in this county, although Mr. Foley failed to take a stand on the highly controversial Landrum-Griffin labor bill, and merely voted "present." Mr. Foley hardly seems disposed to ignore the record and speak, instead, of plans for the future, because apparently he hasn't any. He has said nothing to show that his second term in Congress would be any different from his first.

Mr. Mathias, on the other hand, has made his position clear on a great number of subjects that will be of interest to Sixth District residents, and has outlined definite goals and plans of action to attain these goals. The Cumberland News believes that he deserves the support of all who want effective responsible representation in Congress for this district.

Inspection And Control

In the disarmament discussion, two words, inspection and control, have become stumbling blocks to understanding. This has been so since the very first discussions of the atom bomb in the early years of the United Nations. Bernard Baruch represented the United States and he was adamant that there could be no blind disarmament; that we had to know what we were doing.

The realistic danger is surprise attack. Khrushchev takes the position that he would never be so wicked as to do such a thing, but there is no reason to have a blind date with him. It is more scientific to have a United Nations commission inspect all countries, discover what is available, and for a United Nations commission to control the disarmament and to keep the record.

Professor Henry A. Kissinger makes the point: "... As long as the retaliatory forces are composed primarily of liquid-fuel missiles and airplanes—as they will be until the middle sixties—the side that strikes first will have a perhaps decisive advantage unless the defender's retaliatory force is in a state of high readiness. But when two retaliatory forces so constituted confront each other, their very structure may contribute to instability regardless of the intentions of the two sides.

If Khrushchev is sincere in desiring disarmament, he must agree to inspection and control as a prior step toward disarmament. His failure to accept inspection and control indicates that he does not believe in universal disarmament, that he would like the West to disarm, while he hides weapons. President Eisenhower's "open skies" plan was the most that could be afforded by the West. Soviet Russia rejected that. Khrushchev says disarm first and negotiate about controls afterwards, but that is precisely where the danger lies. Professor Kissinger makes the point that even 50 hidden weapons would confer "a perhaps overwhelming superiority." Why should we risk that?

The conclusion must be reached from the long record of discussion on this subject that Soviet Russia only wishes to discuss disarmament but does not wish to disarm. As a matter of fact, Soviet Russia cannot afford to disarm.

In the first place, Soviet Russia now lives in definite peril that Red China will increase its armaments and will be manufacturing rockets and missiles. Red China can afford to be the aggressor because its traditions are impervious to the loss of human life. The loss of 100,000,000 persons in China would mean practically nothing.

Secondly, unless Soviet Russia rules its satellites, it cannot hold them at all. The East Germans have a tradition of hatred for the Slavs which runs throughout the history of both countries. Latvia, Estonia, Lithuania, Poland, and Hungary are held by force and by force alone. Even if Soviet Russia were limited to the use of orthodox weapons, these countries could not be held. Therefore in this stage of its development, Soviet Russia must maintain a military force sufficient to hold its entire empire.

Thirdly, the Soviet Revolution is not yet ready to reveal its correct achievements to the world. Inspection could produce reports of mechanical and technical inadequacy which the Western countries do not fear but which Soviet Russia cannot tolerate.

Control is to be set up after disarmament has been completed. But how is the control to be set up? By a representative of the West; a representative of the Soviet countries; a representative of the neutrals. Each representative is to have the right of veto. Therefore the control cannot work. The Secretariat of the United Nations is to be similarly arranged so that it cannot function. Therefore there will be no control.

It is difficult to understand how any sane person would expect the United States to accept such a proposition, but obviously, it was offered not to be accepted.

Complex Questions Puzzling On TV Debate

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — The "debate" on television between the two presidential candidates may be spectacular but, as a device for really informing the voter about the meaning of what the speakers are saying, it is confusing and inadequate. The people are not given the background of the issues.

What should the audience have been told, for example, to enable people to understand the Quemoy and Matsu issue? It isn't too late to bring to their attention essential facts. Here are some of them:

On October 1 Senator Kennedy, when being interviewed in a feature show on television at his home, was asked this question:

"Do you agree, Senator Kennedy, with the present policy, in which it seems to me we are committed now to the defense of the tiny off-shore islands off the coast of China — Quemoy and Matsu?"

Now, the fact is the United States has never been committed to the defense of those two islands at all times but only to their defense if related to an attack on Formosa. The islands have been continuously bombarded for five years without American intervention. The policy of the United States, as laid down in a resolution passed by Congress by an overwhelming vote of both political parties declined to define the line of defense exactly but purposely left it undefined.

Senator Kennedy, however, in his answer to the above question, said he would change the existing policy laid down by the President and Congress. He said: "I have always thought that that was an unwise place to draw the line."

But when the second round of the "great debate" was held on October 7, the audience wasn't told that Senator Kennedy would reverse the doctrine which the President, the U. S. Joint Chiefs of Staff and the majority of both houses of Congress had adopted in 1955. The interrogator referred to the October 1 statement, and then Senator Kennedy repeated his view as follows:

"I believe that if you're to get into war for the defense of Formosa, it ought to be on a clearly defined line... and as long as they (Quemoy and Matsu) are not essential to the defense of Formosa, it's been my judgment ever since 1954 at the time of the Eisenhower Doctrine for the Far East that our line should be drawn in the sea around the island (Formosa) itself."

On this, Mr. Nixon commented immediately: "Now, as far as Quemoy and Matsu are concerned, the question is not these two little pieces of real estate — they are unimportant... it's the principle involved. These two islands are in the area of freedom. The Nationalists have these two islands. We should not force our Nationalist allies to get off of them and give them to the Communists. If we do that, we start a chain reaction because the Communists aren't after Quemoy and Matsu. They're after Formosa."

In the third round of the "debate" — on October 13 — the two candidates defined their positions again in substantially the same way. Mr. Nixon said that he would not change the Eisenhower policy, which specifically declines to define the exact line of defense. Senator Kennedy, on the other hand, reiterated that he would do so. He added that President Eisenhower in a letter to Chairman Theodore Green of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee had not insisted on the defense of Quemoy and Matsu. But the television audience couldn't get the significance of that brief quotation unless it also knew the background of the Eisenhower Policy. Thus, Mr. Eisenhower wrote on Oct. 5, 1958, to Senator Green:

"Neither you nor any other American need feel the United

PRIVATE-EYE SHOWS—At last the cops have been given an opportunity to express their thoughts on some of the crime shows on television. And their views are anything but complimentary.

Police officials at the annual meeting of International Police Chiefs in Washington denounced to a man the impression of a cop's work that is given on television shows.

They particularly resent the television plots wherein some private eye gets all the credit and does all the smart work while a bunch of open-mouthed flatfoots get outsmarted by everyone including any kids that might be handy.

One police chief said of the TV shows that "they resemble nothing I've known in 30 years of police work."

They seriously charged that public respect for law enforcement is being undermined. In addition, some contended that the TV shows teach some amateur crooks how to play their trade.

One charged that a safe-cracking job in his area was carried out just the way it had been done on TV. He wasn't sure that the television show taught the thieves how to do it because he was never able to catch them to ask.

PREPARING FOR THE INAUGURATION — Construction of the reviewing stand in front of the Capitol has begun for the presidential inauguration on Jan. 20. There is a lot of bustle and confusion this year, but assurances are given that all will be in readiness for the big day four months hence.

This work has been going on for more than a year, but is approaching the end, something that its opponents contended could not have been completed in time for the inauguration ceremonies.

On the basis of the 1956 experience, there will be fewer grandstand seats erected along the line of march on Pennsylvania Avenue this year. Only about two thirds of the seats were sold then so the number available this year will be cut down as an economy.

The inaugural committee is a joint operation by Republicans and Democrats to make sure the facilities and arrangements are acceptable to whichever candidate wins the presidency.

China Lobby Won Many U.S. Friends Through Profitable Oil Leases

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — One technique used by the China lobby to help win friends in the United States was by letting them in on profitable oil leases. If a good well was drilled they got the benefit; if it was a dry hole, then some friends got their money back.

Members of the Soong dynasty, which operates the China lobby, have vast oil holdings all through Texas, Oklahoma and Louisiana. The chief operators of these oil investments are Louie Kung, nephew of Chiang Kai-Shek and the man who delivered the money to finance Nixon's California campaign in 1950; also Charley Chien of New York. They control the Cheyenne Oil Company, the Magnatrust Company, the Westland Oil Development Corporation, and the Atoka Drilling Co., a wholly owned subsidiary of Cheyenne.

And the man of influence who is their chief partner in one of these companies is none other than George Allen, bridge-playing partner of President Eisenhower, who was also a partner of President Eisenhower, who was also a partner with Ike in a Howard Johnson Restaurant, and who is Ike's guest at Gettysburg almost every week end.

In 1956, the year Ike was running for re-election, Allen and the Chinese organized the Cheyenne Oil Corp., Allen taking 25 per cent of the stock of $28,000; Dr. James Boren of Wichita Falls, Tex., taking 25 per cent, and the Chinese taking 50 per cent.

They then proceeded to bring in for much smaller amounts and on certain proposed well-drilling ventures an array of big and little shots, some of them close friends of President Eisenhower's.

The records show that on Sept. 19, 1956, Gen. Alfred Gruenther, now president of the American Red Cross and another bridge-playing friend of Ike's, purchased an interest in a well in the Appleby lease in Caddo County, Okla., by the Chinese-backed Cheyenne Oil Co. The late Baruch Mattingly, Republican National committeeman from Missouri, purchased another interest in a Caddo County lease from Cheyenne on Aug. 17, 1956.

John Charles Daly, vice president of the American Broadcasting Co. in charge of news, is registered as having purchased Aug. 27, 1956, part of the Certain-Teed Products Corp. lease in Caddo County from Cheyenne Oil; while movie actor Randolph Scott got part of the same lease.

Other participants were Rice Johnson, president of the Motion Picture Producers Assn.; Freeman Gosden and Bert C. Gross of "Amos and Andy" fame, who are close friends of the President's; Ellsworth Alvord, well-known Washington tax attorney with whom George Allen shares an office; James Bruce, Truman's ambassador to Argentina, and Sam Rosenman, former counsel to President Truman.

Some of these did not know that Chinese money controlled Cheyenne oil. Eric Johnston explained he had no idea that the China lobby was mixed up with his leases and he had gone in on the deal at the suggestion of his tax attorney, Alvord.

Some Investors Favored However, the facts are that the Cheyenne Company was organized at the Chinese Embassy in Washington in the early summer of 1956 at a breakfast meeting between Louie Kung, Charley Chien, George Allen and Dr. Boren. Dr. Boren, a successful oil developer in the Southwest, had been asked to come to Washington in order to give advice on the new venture he participated in for a short time.

During the operation, the two Chinese, Kung and Chien, visited Texas and Oklahoma about twice a month. Once Louie Kung came almost direct from Formosa, stopping en route in San Francisco. He brought with him a brief case full of cash which he kept locked in the trunk of his Cadillac except when he spent the night in a hotel at which times he took it with him.

Some of the new leases acquired were paid for in cash.

The Chinese seemed especially solicitous of the investments of John Daly, the ABC vice president, Randolph Scott, the actor, and Baruch Mattingly, the St. Louis politician. The Chinese gave instructions that when a good well came in the gentlemen were to have so much of it and if a bad well came in they were to have their money back.

Dr. Boren objected to this partiality for favored investors and some of the business methods of the Chinese. He retired from the company on Nov. 2, 1956, being replaced by S. L. Kennedy, who has also now parted company with the Chinese.

Note—Kung, a former major in the Chinese Nationalist Army, is the son of fabulously wealthy Dr. H. H. Kung, former governor of the Bank of China who was fired from that job after the Chinese gold scandal in 1944. A onetime YMCA secretary, Kung married the sister of Mme. Chiang Kai-Shek and became one of the wealthiest men in the world.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

The reformers have been trying to define the word smut for many years. It isn't easy. I have seen prissy old ladies recoil from a nude statue in a park. On occasion, I have seen the Supreme Court of the United States clear a book which I felt was inexcusably dirty.

I'm opposed to censorship and I am sure that a country is healthier without it. However, there are laws on the books of most municipalities and states regarding the publication and dissemination of filth and, so far as I have been able to determine, none of them stand up under appeal. The publishers and peddlers may be convicted in an inferior court, but if they have the money to fight it up to the Circuit Court of Appeals, they go free.

It is as impossible to define evil as it is to define good. Everything depends upon the mentality of the beholder. In the early 1930s, the U. S. Government tried to ban James Joyce's "Ulysses." It contained some pretty sexy stuff and lots of four-letter words. But, unless my memory is poor, Federal Judge Woolsey found nothing in it contrary to the laws of the United States, and okayed the book.

The publishers were so elated that they used the judge's opinion as a preface. Let's face it: "Ulysses" is art. Therefore, the millions of us who like to read are hemmed in by blue-nose reformers on the one side, and flame-brain writers on the other.

The victory of dirt over cleanliness is so sweeping that, in recent years, the smut writers have been encouraged to move deeper and deeper into the gutter. Sex sells. A decade ago, when I edited two-bit books, one of my bosses would not okay a cover for a dictionary unless it depicted a half-dressed girl reclining, and the shadow of a man over her.

"This," he used to say, twitching his lips, "will sell." He was right. The books sold by the scores of millions. The girl on the cover had only the remotest relationship to the book, but the buyer wouldn't find that out until too late. In the end, only he had been seduced.

I like movies. I go to see them. If I pause to read the ads, I stay home. All the advertising copy reads as though it were written by my old boss. The words sound like excerpts from "Peyton Place."

The still photos are worse. The movie producers have been defeated by a little gadget called television and they think that the only way in which they can curry favor with us is to give us what television cannot—veiled sex.

Apparently no producer fears the Johnston Office code, or the Legion of Decency. The public condemnation of a motion picture insures its success. So, in my estimation, censorship has failed everywhere. Some of the love story magazines are worse than anything I've seen in the theatre. No one tries to stop them.

The only field in which censorship has done some tangible good is in comic books. Some of them were so bad, for a time, that teenagers knew more about sexual sadism and masochism than their parents. Public opinion forced the comic books to sweep out their house.

I am not persuaded that even the worst of writing and films do any lasting harm, or warp character. If a boy is morally weak, he will derive pleasure from staring at lingerie on a clothesline. If he is strong, nothing licentious will hold his lasting interest.

Should the people invite censorship—which is like inviting only the tufted tail of a lion in the front door—they are going to have to assist the Supreme Court of the United States to make up its mind what, in literature, is filthy sex dragged into a story without excuse, and what is legitimate sex, part of a literary portrait.

This shouldn't be difficult. There is something called amicus curiae which, I think, means friend of the court. Chief Justice Warren and his associates could appoint twelve qualified literateurs to read the material in dispute. Three could be newspaper editors; three could be magazine editors; three could be authors; three could be motion picture producers.

The verdict of these would not be binding upon the court, but would, through expert testimony, help the court toward a fair decision in a case involving pornography. I would be interested to know, for example, what their opinions might be regarding a movie like "Suddenly Last Summer," some of the layouts in a magazine called Playboy, and some of the newspaper stories regarding the Carole Tregoff case.

Someone once said that beauty is in the eye of the beholder. So too is ugliness.

Scientists have determined now that the body uses approximately half the amount of this vitamin consumed, whether in coffee or capsules. The remainder is eliminated via the kidneys. Since the adult requirement of niacin is 10 mg. per day, four cups of coffee will more than fill the bill.

Television and Radio

by John Crosby

I watched the first two of the great debates on television where I thought Senator Kennedy had the advantage. However, on radio, observers have felt Vice President Nixon won out, even in the first debate where appearances loomed very large on TV and, of course, didn't count at all on radio. The radio audience, while far smaller, is still considerable. To the first debate, 17,100,000 persons were estimated to have listened on radio as opposed to 69,000,000 who saw and heard it on TV.

The third debate I listened to entirely on radio with the television turned off and I must admit it's a different show. Nixon comes across far harder, seems more confident (or maybe he was just more confident) and more relaxed. Of the two, Kennedy seemed more tense. Kennedy hasn't the breath control of Nixon and this is far more noticeable on radio than on TV. He talks too fast on both TV and radio, but again, it's more noticeable on radio.

Radio itself has a clarity of purpose that contributes greatly to the expression of ideas. Personality is still important but not over-ridingly so. Above all, personality and looks are not the distractions they quite clearly are on television.

However, just as debate goes, this last one struck the lowest level so far. I recall in an excess of optimism writing after the first debate that this kind of political forum ended forever so the sort of arrant Fourth of July demagoguery of past campaigns, I should have had more sense.

Both candidates were indulging in arrant demagoguery over Quemoy and Matsu. Nixon waved those two islands like a flag bearing the strange device Ex-celsior. Senator Kennedy said — not once but several times — "the islands weren't worth the bones of a single American soldier." Nixon closed the debate with the stirring words: "The way to win is not to retreat and not to surrender." Quemoy and Matsu are getting to be slogans and the debate over them is being used in the time-tried political way of inflaming emotions rather than enlightening minds.

Nixon also struck a blow on behalf of mothers and of children, expressing the hope that: "Mothers and fathers could look at the White House and say there is a man who maintains a standard I'd like my child to follow." Senator Kennedy, conceivably struck speechless by this bold stand, didn't disagree.

Kennedy struck the first spark of humor — at least it sounded funny on radio — with the observation: "I always have difficulty recognizing my position when it is stated by the Vice President." However, in general — whether radio just has that effect on his voice or whether it was just this round of the debate — Kennedy sounded frequently quite angry and, for the first time, on the defensive.

The range of the questions was much narrower than in the previous two encounters and the amount of sheer information I thought was far less. Even on those questions that were asked, the amount of emotion rose while the content of enlightenment fell.

As far as radio went, Nixon clearly won this round.

Your parties will be more fun for you — and your guests — if you're relaxed.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Relaxation — Key To Perfect Parties

The success of a party starts with your attitude as hostess. Do you consider giving a party a pleasure? Do you honestly feel cordial when you extend the invitation that "cordially invites"? A charming hostess does — and she enjoys her own parties!

With your mind attuned to the spirit of the social occasion, follow these further suggestions to be the kind of hostess who makes every guest feel welcome.

Allow yourself plenty of time to prepare for the party. One of my favorite hostesses makes so many lists in advance — guests, things to do, and food to order — that we all josh her about her paperwork. But we also enjoy her parties! It's a mark of competence if you make lists and really follow them.

Plan a thorough housecleaning that will make your home an admirable reflection of your best-dressed self! Distribute the ashtrays and check on refreshments well in advance of party hour so you can devote the last minutes to your personal appearance.

Wear a dress you particularly like. You'll be more comfortable in a fashion you're positive is flattering. Allow yourself extra time to dress and to relax. If nerves are taut beforehand, you are certain to appear tired during the party. How can you sparkle if you're exhausted?

Make each guest feel at home with a welcoming comment. After introductions, let your guests mingle. They won't require management every moment.

If there is a guest of honor, see that he meets people (and vice versa), but don't hover, and don't break up conversational groups to be sure that Jane meets John. If you particularly want one guest to meet another, a subtle suggestion is more apropos than a pointed direction.

People like to get together for good food, good talk, good fun. The party that's not overly demanding of hostess or guests is the kind of party every one enjoys — hostess included!

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Dorothy Manners

While Louella Parsons is on vacation her column will be written by Dorothy Manners.

HOLLYWOOD — Doris Day didn't get to be No. 1 woman star by not knowing what she does best. While the chilling "Midnight Lace" is coining money and probably will rate her an Oscar nomination, Doris feels comedies are her biggest payoff.

So she has said "yes" to Sol Siegel about making "And So To Bed" after the first of the year with Joe Pasternak producing. Doris made "Please Don't Eat the Daisies" for MGM and it came up daisies for everyone.

"And So To Bed" is an original by Harry Ruskin and Wanda Tu-chuck about a girl with a compulsion to help everybody and gets nothing but headaches for her trouble. It follows "Lover, Come Back" with Rock Hudson on her schedule.

Everybody is in everybody's hair on Elizabeth Taylor's "Cleopatra" set with Liz's raven locks right in the middle of the tangle. The London hairdressers union has producer Walter Wanger literally tearing his hair because the four British coiffeur artists assigned to Elizabeth's tresses bitterly resent Sidney Gullaroff, imported from Hollywood to "tend to Cleo's" hair-dos.

It's a little wonder Liz has taken off to the hospital with a nervous rash plus a virus infection. And while the battle of the waves rages on, she's also taking the occasion to shed a little poundage.

A very glittery turn-out for Lee Anderson's patio-party in her Westwood apartment highlighted by the arrival of royalty in the persons of Soraya on the arm of Prince Alfonso Hohenlohe. The prince is good looking and seemingly quite retiring which is a bit of a surprise in view of his recent headlines divorcing Princess Furstenberg and their squabbles over the royal heirs.

The lovely Soraya was simply dressed in a green and red winter print and were none of her famed jewels. Most of the evening she sat in a corner practicing her English saying "thank you" to the entourage of males telling her how lovely she is.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I work in a small factory and my machine is right on the aisle. This is a pretty special spot because I get to smile and say hello to everyone who passes.

A few months ago a smooth-looking foreman was transferred to this department. He passes our section several times a day and often stops for a few minutes and talks to me. Lately he's gotten into the habit of offering me peanuts.

He's not married and neither am I. Do you think this thing about the peanuts means anything? Please tell me how I can get him to ask me out.—IRISH EYES

DEAR IRISH: I knew a very nice man who used to buy peanuts for the monkeys at Lincoln Park Zoo every day for years. So far as I know he never asked any of them out.

Have a small, informal get-together at your home and include Peanuts. If he doesn't ask you out after that there's not much more you can do.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I know you can't help us, but if you print this letter it might save others from being gyped.

We signed up for a mail-order art course for our son. It cost us $415. They sent us about $25 worth of art supplies. The boy mailed in three lessons and decided he didn't like the course. We had to pay the full amount while our kids went without milk and shoes.

Don't suggest we see a lawyer. There's nothing we can do to get our money back. We tried. Don't you think American citizens should be protected against such rackets? What is a government for anyway? We are really disappointed in Uncle Sam.—TOOK play the femme lead in "Suzie Slade" for Delmer Davies. I'm not trying to sneak into your column—Florida is wonderful, and we're having a delightful time.

DEAR TOOK: Why take it out on Uncle Sam? The government can't put brains in your head when you've got oatmeal up there. Parents who would shell out $415 on a mail-order art course when they haven't got milk and shoe money are plain daffy.

"But Connie wanted you to know she got this job she wanted so much, and heard it first from the gateman at Warners. Then Davies, who directed her in 'Parish,' confirmed it. She'll play with Troy Donahue again."

Some mail order courses are perfectly O.K. and offer real opportunities for people who can't attend school. Others are two steps ahead of the sheriff.

The federal government and local Better Business Bureaus are constantly investigating borderline outfits. But no government or bureau can protect people against their own stupidity. This is strictly a Do-It-Yourself project.

DEAR ANN: I'm a 16-year-old girl and as long as I can remember I've had wild crushes on men. I don't give a hoot about Rick Nelson, Pat Boone or any of the popular teen-age idols. I fall for clergymen, doctors and school teachers.

Don't tell me it's a waste of time. I know very well nothing can come of these crazy crushes, yet in school I daydream when I should be listening. At home instead of studying I imagine myself with Robert Hutchins. I hear he's old enough to be my grandfather! Any help you can give me will be greatly appreciated.—CLUTCHED

DEAR CLUTCHED: Everyone dreams a little—and this is good, but too much fantasy means you're running from reality. Many high schools now have guidance counselors (hooray!) who are wonderfully helpful. If your school has no counselor, the dean of women can help you. And P.S. Congratulations on your excellent taste.

Are your parents too strict? You can benefit from the experiences of thousands of teen-agers if you write for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "How To Live With Your Parents," enclosing with your request 20c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Opening lead: Seven of ♥

A choice of plays was available for bringing in today's contract, taken from a recent tournament.

The contract of four hearts was uniformly reached, and in most cases West opened a trump. The various declarers chose several lines of play.

South observed that he had two chances for his contract: (a) the favorable location of the ace of spades and (b) the diamond finesse. Accordingly, a second trump was played to dummy and a low spade led to the king. This went to West's ace, and a spade came back to East's queen. East returned the deuce of diamonds, and declarer could find no way to avoid the loss of two tricks in that suit.

One declarer chose a different line of attack. Upon winning the opening lead, he decided that he could win the hand if West could be found with the queen of spades. He therefore led low towards the jack. If West held the queen he would have to go up, and the jack would then force out the ace, providing declarer with a discard of a diamond out of dummy on South's king. If the jack should lose to the queen and East should return anything but a diamond, declarer has the chance to find the ace of spades right. If East returns a low diamond, declarer can duck and still retain his two chances. And, as a last resort, the diamond finesse is available.

Only one declarer found the play which wins the hand. If West held four clubs, the contract was assured regardless of the location of the high cards. On winning the opening lead with the ace of hearts, he cashed king and ace of clubs and ruffed a club high. He then crossed to dummy with a heart, exhausting opponents' trumps in the process. Then came dummy's last club and, when East showed out, declarer simply discarded a low diamond and West was in with no safe exit.

Friday Games
Flinstone at St. Savage
Beall at Bruce

Jim Duncan, center forward, scored five goals as Beall High School's booters rolled up the highest score in the W.M.I. Soccer League since October 15, 1957, when they trimmed Valley High School's defending champions to the tune of 8-3 yesterday at Frostburg.

Coach "Ebbie" Finzel's Mountaineers remained deadlocked for first place with Bruce High School at 3-0 as Coach Leonard Ritchie's Bulldogs registered their third victory of the campaign at the expense of the Aggies in a 3-0 battle at Flinstone.

Bruce and Beall are slated to battle for the league leadership Friday at 3:30 p.m. in Westernport.

Top His 1959 Total

By scoring five points—three field goals and two penalty goals—in yesterday's contest in the Mountain City, Duncan upped his total for the season to eleven in three games. Last season Duncan paced the league scorers with nine points on five field goals and four penalties in eight games. This season the Beall sharpshooter has scored four points against Flinstone, two against Mt. Savage and five against Valley.

The eight points credited to Beall in yesterday's tilt was the highest in the league since 1957 when Valley routed Flinstone, 11-0. Several teams have scored seven points in a single game since then.

Eight Points Is High

Beall's eight markers in yesterday's game was the most ever scored against Valley since the Knights came into the county circuit in 1953. Valley was playing its 60th league game yesterday.

The Knights suffered their second defeat of the season yesterday and that also represents a new high for that school. In the past seven years Valley lost only two games—one to Flinstone in 1953 (3-2) and the other to Beall in 1959 (4-3).

Duncan's penalty goal opened the scoring in yesterday's tilt but a fielder by Keith Wilson knotted the count at 1-1 as the first period ended.

Two goals by Gilbert Carter and one by Duncan gave Beall a 4-1 advantage in the second period before Carl Spiker tallied for the Black Knights.

Duncan scored twice and Randy Ritchie once for the Mountaineers and Danny Young blasted one through the uprights from the penalty mark in the third stanza at the close of which the score was 7-3.

Duncan's penalty goal concluded the scoring in the final quarter.

Forty-four players saw action in the contest—24 Mountaineers and 20 Knights.

Standout players were Randy Ritchie, Andy Dunn, Gil Carter and Jim Duncan of Beall, and Jerry Winfield, Danny Young and Marvin Miller of Coach John C. Meyers' team.

Jones Makes All Points

Center forward Marshall Jones was the "big gun" in Bruce's triumph as he accounted for all of the Bulldogs' points and increased his season's point total to five. Jones scored his field goals in the first, second and third periods in handling the Aggies their third successive setback of the campaign.

Jones, Ed Delilio and Mike Warnick were outstanding for the Bulldogs who, incidentally, recorded their third straight shut-out triumph. The Westernport eleven has collected 10 points to date. Don Kinton and Bob Rinker played best for Flinstone.

The lineups:

Paul Richards Gives Views On Stengel Firing

Orioles' Manager Heads AP Poll

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (AP)—Baltimore Oriole Manager Paul Richards, vacationing in Scottsdale, said Tuesday he doubted whether New York improved its position by firing Casey Stengel.

Richards, tabbed as American League manager of the year in an Associated Press poll, said: "I don't care who the Yankees hire in Stengel's place. They won't find a better manager. He's completely capable of getting the best out of his players."

As for his own selection as manager of the year, Richards credited the teamwork and desire of his youthful Orioles for the tribute.

"You can't single out any one player, they all came through. We knew we had a good club about mid-season and with just a couple of breaks we might have won the pennant."

Jokingly he added, "With this club I might win again next year. And if things go right those guys might make my taking this honor an annual affair."

The 51-year-old native of Waxahatchie, Tex., received 111 of 193 votes cast by baseball writers participating in the poll.

Second place with 63 votes went to Cookie Lavagetto of Washington, with Stengel getting the other 19.

1960 Is Tough Year On Pilots In The Majors

NEW YORK (UPI)—Casey Stengel's dismissal as manager of the New York Yankees topped off a year which took a heavy toll on major league pilots.

Following is a month-by-month summary of how the heads rolled.

May 4: Lou Boudreau replaces Charley Grimm as manager of the Chicago Cubs.

June 12: Mike Higgins replaces Billy Jurgas as manager of the Boston Red Sox.

June 18: Bill Rigney is fired and replaced by Tom Sheehan as manager of the San Francisco Giants.

August 3: Jimmy Dykes and Joe Gordon "trade" jobs as managers of the Cleveland Indians and Detroit Tigers.

October 2: Bob Elliott is fired as manager of the Kansas City A's.

October 4: Lou Boudreau quits as manager of the Cubs.

October 6: Joe Gordon named manager of the Kansas City Athletics.

October 18: Casey Stengel fired as manager of the New York Yankees.

Stengel's Firing Surprises Mantle

DALLAS, Tex. (UPI)—Mickey Mantle, the outfielder Casey Stengel described as "possibly the best player in the American League," appeared a bit hurt Tuesday when informed that Stengel had been fired as manager of the New York Yankees.

"It'll be different," Mantle said. "I've never played for anyone else."

Blinky Palermo Is Subpoenaed In Probe Of Boxing

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Senate boxing investigators Tuesday subpoenaed alleged boxing kingpin Frank (Blinky) Palermo to testify at hearings scheduled to get underway in December.

The subpoena was served in Philadelphia, Palermo's hometown.

Palermo was the twelfth person to be summoned for the boxing investigation by the Senate Antitrust and Monopoly subcommittee, headed by Sen. Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn. The names of only 4 of the 12 were revealed previously. They included James D. Norris, former president of the International Boxing Club.

During preliminary hearings in June Palermo was identified as "the chief field lieutenant of Frankie Carbo, the underworld czar of boxing."

Palermo also was linked by investigators with a $100,000 bribe offer to Jake LaMotta to throw a fight to Billy Fox on Nov. 14, 1947, in Madison Square Garden.

Palermo was the manager of record for Fox during that fight. Others who have been subpoenaed for the December hearings are Charles (Sonny) Liston, leading heavyweight contender; his manager, Joseph Barone; and Joseph DiCarlo, identified as a Miami racketeer.

Ints Attendance Is Post-War Low

MONTREAL (UPI)—The International League attendance reached a post-war low of 1,369,011 in 1960, but the circuit led the minors in attendance for the fifth straight year, league president Frank Shaughnessy announced Tuesday.

The 1960 total was a drop of 409,068 from the 1959 figure of 1,778,079.

Shaughnessy blamed the decrease on "scurrilous talk" by Continental League advocates, a poor race, (Toronto won by 17 games) an unusually rainy spring and further encroachments by television interests "who seem bent on destroying the minors."

The league does not issue individual club figures, but Buffalo announced earlier it led baseball's minor league clubs with a turnout of 278,352. Other cities in the International are Montreal, Rochester, Columbus, Richmond, Jersey City and Miami.

Iowa Leads Mississippi In AP Poll

Syracuse Is 3d And Middies 4th

By The Associated Press
Iowa's Hawkeyes took the undisputed lead in the Big Ten football race Saturday by conquering Wisconsin 28-21, but the lead they assumed in the race for national honors was something less than clearcut.

By the slender kind of margin—one first-place vote and two points in the voting of 48 members of eight Associated Press district panels—Iowa ousted Mississippi from the No. 1 spot in the nation.

Iowa received 23 of the 48 first place votes in the fifth weekly AP poll of the 1960 season and Mississippi 22. Two went to Syracuse, the 1959 national champion, and one to Washington. In the point totals, on the basis of 10 for each first place vote, 9 for second, etc., down to one for tenth, it was Iowa 442 and Ole Miss 440.

Syracuse moved up a notch to third place with 339 points. Navy and Missouri each advanced one place in the rankings and Minnesota jumped four from 10th to sixth. Washington and Purdue regained places in the top ten. Others are Baylor, which held the No. 7 spot, and Ohio State, down from third to ninth.

Previously ballots had been split between Iowa and Ohio State as the outstanding teams in the Big Ten. The Buckeyes were knocked from contention by Purdue 24-21. But Minnesota continued in the unbeaten ranks with a 21-0 decision over Illinois and Purdue also bounced back to gain a share of the points for that conference.

Mississippi, the Southeastern Conference pacesetter, rang up its fifth straight victory, downing Tulane 26-13.

The leaders, with season records and first place votes in parentheses (points on basis of 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1):

1. Iowa (23) (4-0)	442
2. Mississippi (22) (5-0)	440
3. Syracuse (21) (4-0)	339
4. Navy (5-0)	305
5. Missouri (5-0)	279
6. Minnesota (4-0)	224
7. Baylor (4-0)	183
8. Washington (1) (4-1)	111
9. Ohio State (3-1)	71
10. Purdue (2-1-1)	41

Giants To Visit Japan, Cop Series From Hawaiians

HONOLULU (UPI)—The San Francisco Giants departed for a barnstorming tour of Japan Tuesday, after a brilliant performance in a two-game series here against the Hawaiian All-Stars.

Four San Francisco hurlers combined talents for a no-hitter Monday night—and the amazing Willie Mays clouted two three-run homers and a double.

The Giants, who defeated the Hawaiians 5-1 Sunday, shut them out 7-0 Monday night.

Stu Miller, Sam Jones, Billy O'Dell and Bill Loes effectively handcuffed the local team, giving up only four walks. The All-stars were unable to get past second base, and only three balls were hit out of the infield.

Miller, who went six innings, was the winner as he struck out 11 of the 19 men he faced and walked only one. Jones, O'Dell and Loes each hurled one inning.

Mays led the San Francisco 10-hit attack with two homers over the left field fence and a 385-foot ground rule double. Willie Kirkland's double and a single by Andre Rodgers accounted for the other Giant run.

More than 4,200 fans watched the game at Honolulu Stadium.

Longer Meets Are Sought By State Milers

Boost In Winners' Purses Proposed

BALTIMORE (AP)—Operators of Pimlico Tuesday called for longer meetings at Maryland's one-mile tracks and a new fund for increasing winners' purses.

In testimony before a special Legislative Council committee studying racing in Maryland, the Maryland Jockey Club recommended extending racing days at Pimlico, Bowie and Laurel from 120 to 180 days annually.

They also proposed that the state contribute one-half of one per cent of its share of mutual money to enlarge the size of the winners' purses at the mile tracks.

A spokesman for Pimlico told the committee, headed by Sen. George B. Rasin, D-Kent, that a new fund would increase the daily purse total at each track by $5,000. The purses now average $31,000 daily.

The spokesman added that, although the higher purses would reduce the State's share of the mutual money, the longer meetings would increase State revenue from $7 million to $11 million annually.

The State now receives 5 per cent of the total handle. Each track receives 7 per cent of the balance with the remainder going to the pool to pay off winners.

State law requires that one-half of one per cent of the track's portion must be used for plant improvements.

The proposal by the Pimlico owners, therefore, would lower the State's share of the mutual handle to 4½ per cent.

Iowa, Mississippi, Navy And Syracuse Favored To Win

Wake Forest Is Favorite Over Terps

Pitt Picked Over TCU, Michigan And Illinois Get Edge

NEW YORK (UPI)—Top-ranked Iowa and second-ranked Mississippi Tuesday were picked to retain their perfect records in a pair of key college football games Saturday.

Iowa, victorious in its first four games, is a seven-point favorite over eighth-ranked Purdue while Mississippi, with a 5-0 record, is favored to defeat 11th-ranked Arkansas by at least nine points.

Fifth-ranked Minnesota is the only member of the UPI top 10 not favored to win this weekend. The Gophers are 1½-point underdogs against 16th-ranked Michigan.

Fourth-ranked Navy is a husky 21-point choice over Pennsylvania, sixth-ranked Missouri is a 14-point pick over Iowa State, and seventh-ranked Baylor is a 15-point favorite over Texas A&M.

Syracuse and Washington are such heavy favorites that the odds makers did not quote a point spread on their weekend engagements. Third-ranked Syracuse plays West Virginia and ninth-ranked Washington meets Oregon State.

The odds on other major games by sections:

East: Holy Cross 7 over Columbia, Yale 13½ over Colgate, Princeton 7 over Cornell.

South: Duke 2 over Clemson, Georgia Tech 6 over Tulane, North Carolina 3 over South Carolina, Alabama 7 over Houston, Auburn 7 over Miami (Fla.), Kentucky 1 over Georgia, Wake Forest 2½ over Maryland, LSU 6 over Florida.

Midwest: Illinois 1 over Penn State, Northwestern 13 over Notre Dame, Ohio State 7½ over Wisconsin, Michigan State 10 over Indiana.

Southwest: Rice 1 over Texas Tech, 7 over SMU, Kansas 10 over Oklahoma State, Pittsburgh 2 over Texas Christian.

West: UCLA 18½ over Stanford, Oregon 6 over California, Colorado 4 over Nebraska, Wyoming 6 over Air Force.

Casey Stengel, Pilot Of 10 Flag Winners, Is Fired By Yankees Because Of His Age

Fabulous 12-Year Career Ends For 70-Year-Old Boss

By MILTON RICHMAN
NEW YORK (UPI)—Casey Stengel, the most successful baseball manager of modern times, was fired by the New York Yankees Tuesday only because of his age and despite his heated insistence that at 70 he is "just as good as I ever was."

Showing unmistakable signs of emotion at times, the smiling Stengel said his departure from the Yankees was effected in "friendly fashion," although he spoke in biting terms of the ball club's new program to bring in "younger blood."

Even before Stengel announced he was leaving to a packed room of newspapermen, television and radio men, the Yankees announced they would hold another press conference Thursday, at which time coach Ralph Houk is expected to be named Stengel's successor.

The firing of Stengel by co-owners Dan Topping and Del Webb brought to an end a fabulous 12-year career with the Yankees during which time Casey managed them to 10 American League pennants and seven world championships.

Wanted To Stay
"I wanted to stay managing," Stengel said, laying his firing directly at the door of the Yankees' front office.

"Webb is letting Topping run the club," Casey went on. "At the end of the season, I want to him (Topping) 'I know what your plans are and I know you want me out.'"

Stengel left no doubt he was pushed and did not jump.

"I was told that my services will not be desired any longer," he said simply.

Already deluged by offers, Casey said his future plans were "indefinite" but he did not bar the door on a possible return to baseball. Owner Bill Veeck of the Chicago White Sox already has offered Stengel a job and there were reports that the two new entries in the National League—New York and Houston—also were interested in his services.

Topping pointed out that Stengel will not leave the Yankees empty-handed. He said that an age limit, Stengel said with through the club's profit-sharing a gesture of helplessness. "They plan Casey would 'have an amount exceeding $160,000 to his ball club and maybe I would credit as a so-called bonus' on think the same way they did it I Oct. 31.

That sum will amount to two years' "severance pay" for Stengel, who received an estimated $85,000 a year for managing the Yankees during the past two seasons.

Hopes Wait Waived
Topping also said he hoped that the five-year wait after retirement rule would be waived so that Stengel could be elected to baseball's Hall of Fame "as quickly as possible."

"Webb and Topping are in agreement that there should be

CASEY BOWS OUT—Casey Stengel, who managed the New York Yankees to ten American League pennants and seven world series in his 12-year job with the club, appeared downcast at news conference yesterday at which he told newsmen he had been fired. Stengel, 70, earlier heard Dan Topping, co-owner of the club, say that Stengel was released because of the club's profit-sharing and retirement program. Casey said he was told his services no longer were required because of his age.

(AP Photofax)

The Yankees' new policy also is expected to bring about the departure shortly of 66-year-old General Manager George Weiss, often called the guiding genius behind the Yankees' success. Roy Hamer, now Weiss' assistant, is expected to become the club's new general manager, and Jack White, currently with Richmond of the International League, is in line to handle the business side as Hamer's aide.

Stengel revealed that he was told of the ball club's decision only "two or three days ago." "I listened to the owners," he said. "I listened to the program they had. They said the managing was all right, they admitted they made money under my management, but as long as that was their program, I simply told them, 'Don't worry about Mr. Stengel.'"

Relaxing a moment, Casey said that, "Mrs. Stengel still thinks I'm a wonderful manager."

Hints Players Dissatisfied
When asked whether he thought a man of 70 was too old to manage a major league ball club, Casey snapped back:

"I wouldn't say that at all. I feel I'm as good a manager as I ever was but it's not for me to say. I don't know if I would have stayed even if they offered me another contract. The ball players would have to be taken care of."

Stengel didn't elaborate on his reference to the Yankee ball players but he did hint that he felt some of them should be receiving more money than they now are.

Stengel broke into organized baseball as an outfielder with Kankakee of the Northern Association in 1910 and subsequently played for the Brooklyn Dodgers, Pittsburgh Pirates, Philadelphia Phillies and Boston Braves.

As manager of the Dodgers and Braves during the 30's and early 40's, he never was able to finish above the second division. The Yankees obtained him after he managed Oakland of the Pacific Coast League in 1948 and the rest has been baseball history.

"Baseball Is Funny Business"—Harris
WELLESLEY, Mass. (UPI)—Stanley (Bucky) Harris, the last manager fired by the New York Yankees before Casey Stengel took the job, conceded Tuesday that "baseball is getting to be a funny business."

"I took the pennant my first season with the Yankees and finished two games out the second year," Harris said.

But he added he "wouldn't know" whether the Yankee managerial firing policy was unique.

Harris, recently fired as general manager of the Boston Red Sox, said Tuesday he has "no plans of any kind as yet" on another baseball post.

Club May Appoint Houk As Successor At Thursday Session

CLEVELAND (UPI)—Veteran pitcher Jack Harshman, who played for five major league teams, was released unconditionally by the Cleveland Indians Tuesday.

Harshman, who has an eight-year record of 69-65, had his best year in 1954 when he won 14 and lost 8 for the Chicago White Sox.

He also played for the New York Giants, Baltimore, and Boston before joining the Indians in 1959.

During the twilight of his career, the 33-year-old lefthander from San Diego, Calif., was hindered by a back ailment.

Harshman had a 2-4 slate with the Tribe during the past season after being shelved by a back injury until late July.

In other player shuffling, the Indians elevated Sam McDowell, the $80,000 bonus baby from Pittsburgh, to the Cleveland roster from Lakeland of the Class D Florida State League.

Also added to the Tribe's roster were Dave Tyrivier, who had a 10-11 record for Mobile, and Gordon Lund, a shortstop who batted .265 for Lakeland.

Wilson Will Coach Forty Niners' Ends

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Billy Wilson, one of the greatest pass catchers in the history of the National Football League, is quitting as an end for the San Francisco 49ers to become an end coach.

In his place against the Green Bay Packers next Sunday at Milwaukee will be Ray Norton who has run the 100-yard dash in the world record time of .09.3.

Vic Morabito, president of the 49ers, gave a two-year coaching contract to Wilson, whose 407 receptions for 5,902 yards and 49 touchdowns in just over nine seasons ranks him second only to Don Hutson of Green Bay. In 11 seasons, Hutson caught 489 passes for 8,010 yards.

Service Clubs At Keyser To Hear FBI Agent

Joint Meeting Called Today

KEYSER — Bernard M. Suttler, Atlanta, Ga., special agent for the FBI will be guest speaker at a joint meeting of the Keyser Lions, Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs at the Upper Potomac Shrine Club near Burlington, today at 6:30 p. m.

Inspector Suttler is a native of Atlanta, Ga., and completed his high school education in Atlanta and later attended the Georgia School of Technology from where he received a Bachelor of Commercial Science degree. He received his Bachelor of Laws degree from Woodrow Wilson College of Law in Atlanta in 1935, after which he entered the practice of law in Atlanta in 1935 and in July, 1936 became affiliated with the FBI as a special agent.

After completing the training course as a new agent, Suttler was assigned to the New Orleans, La., office of the FBI. He later served in Little Rock, Ark., and Richmond, Va., during 1938, after which he was transferred to FBI headquarters in Washington. He has served on the director's staff since that time.

In 1950, the Arlandria Civitan Club of Alexandria, Va., presented Suttler with its "Outstanding Citizenship Award" for his work in youth activities and in 1960 he was made an Honorary Life Member of Civitan International.

The Kiwanis Club will be the host group for the annual inter-club meeting, Thomas McBride is chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements for the dinner meeting.

James T. Watson, was elected president of the Kiwanis Club in the annual elections at the regular meeting last Wednesday evening at the First Methodist Church. Others chosen are Russell Foltz, vice president; Herbert Harman, treasurer and John Thrush, Thomas Bosley Jr., Harrison Fuller and James Handlin, members of the board of directors.

The office of secretary is appointive and will be filled after the officers are installed.

For the 21st consecutive year, the Kiwanis Clubs of America are joining with Newspaper Association Managers, Inc., in the observance of National Newspaper Week.

Tri-Towns Lions Hear Candidate

Support Develops For Proposed Change To Sewer Line In Westernport Area

WESTERNPORT — The proposal that the new sewer line up the ravine from Main Street Extended to Greene's Addition be kept to one side of the ravine to make room for a new road at that location, and the starting of a new road up the ravine to the section, is meeting with endorsement from all sections of Westernport and Lake.

Contractors have agreed to changes in the plan for the sewer and could place it all underground on the side of the hill for an additional charge of $1,000. An engineer's service in running a line for the sewer may cost an additional $200.

Sponsors of the project have received permission of the Upper Potomac River Commission and Mayor and Council of Westernport, and have guaranteed the payment of the $1,000 needed to finance the changes in the line. Rights-of-way on most of the land needed for changes in the sewer line and road have already been secured free of charge.

Present plans call for placing the new sewer line on concrete posts above ground to carry it over a rocky terrain. Under the proposed new plan all of the pipe would be three feet underground. This would prevent it from interfering with a new road now or in the future.

Marshall Wilson presented the proposed change in the sewer and the building of a new road to the Lions Club and asked the organization to sponsor the project.

Cooperating with Wilson in promoting the changes are his brother, Carl Wilson, Walter Riley, Russell Otto and Charles Calvert.

Philos Avenue and Oak View Road are the only two highway approaches to the Oak View and Greene's Addition sections. A third road up from Ross Street is passable but unsatisfactory for any large amount of traffic.

The two most used roads are difficult to manipulate in snow and icy weather and the suggestion that a road be built up the ravine has met with enthusiastic endorsement by most of the residents in that area, and by parents of children who must ride school buses to and from Bruce High School.

A petition endorsing the changing of sewer plans and the building of the road has been in circulation for several days and already has nearly 1,000 signatures.

Sponsors estimated that the sewer line can be changed and a new road constructed for a few thousand dollars. Numerous offers of financial aid have been made by interested citizens.

The ravine has a gradual grade

FSTC Plans Big Alumni Day Program

FROSTBURG — "Holidays, U. S. A." is the theme of Frostburg State Teachers College Alumni Homecoming Day program to be held Saturday, October 29, at the college.

Gunter Hall, the new student union building, will be open from 9 a. m. until 11 a. m., 2 to 3 p. m. and 7 until 9 p. m. for open house. Miss Geraldine Drake, food service manager, and Mrs. Cleo Campbell, social director and counselor of women, will be in charge.

A parade of campus organizations, floats, area bands, and home coming queen and court will form at Lowndes Hall at 12:30 p. m.

Registration and social hours will be held in Lowndes Hall Social room from 11 a. m. until 1:30 p. m. Refreshments will be served.

American University will play State in soccer on the athletic field at 2 p. m. Two dances will be held from 9 until 12 p. m. College students may dance at the Frostburg National Guard Armory to the Mello Tones orchestra. Alumni may dance at the Clary Club to the Peter Lukas group.

Homecoming activities will kick-off with a pep rally at 7:30 p. m. Friday, October 28, in the college quadrangle.

Miss Margaret Hamilton is advisor of the alumni and James White, Cumberland, is president. During the state teachers convention at Baltimore last week, the Baltimore unit reserved a room at the Fifth Regiment Armory and planned an open house for the Frostburg State Teachers Alumni on Thursday afternoon from 4 until 6 o'clock.

The groups from Prince Georges and Montgomery counties provided the refreshments. A large number of alumni from throughout the state attended the affair.

Firemen Have Busy Week

WESTERNPORT — Chief Paul Michael of the Potomac Volunteer Fire Company of Westernport, announced activities participated in by the fire company last week during "Fire Prevention Week."

On Monday, October 10, cub scouts from Troop 28 visited the fire station and inspected equipment and learned of its functions.

On Tuesday troops of cub scouts drilled the station again. A fire drill was held at Bruce High School and at St. Peter's Elementary and High School. The chief said 347 children cleared the St. Peter's school building in 58 seconds.

Wednesday the firemen took their fire equipment to Westernport Elementary School where first and second grade pupils were shown the equipment prior to a fire drill which was held in the morning. There 555 children cleared the building in 1 1/2 minutes.

Firemen noted that each teacher had a class record of attendance which was checked to be certain all pupils were out of the building. After the drill movies were shown to pupils of grades 1 through 5. The film was entitled, "Fire Prevention In and Around Homes."

On October 13, 14 and 15 cub scouts visited the fire station again and throughout the week these children were allowed to try on gas masks, firemen's hats and were given fire prevention literature, hats and badges. The material was supplied jointly by the fire company and Mrs. Fay Berry, insurance representative of Westernport.

Posters were on display throughout the community during Fire Prevention Week.

Bloodmobile Will Visit Lonaconing

Area Quota Set At 90 Pints

LONACONING —Johnstown Bloodmobile Unit will be in Lonaconing on Tuesday, November 1, at Alvin C. Neat Post No. 5280. Veterans of Foreign Wars, Lonaconing.

The collection center will be open from noon until 6 p. m. Rev. Leslee E. Schwindt, local chairman of the Regional Free Blood program, announces committee chairmen for the November blood bank, include:

Dr. Leslie R. Miles Jr., physician; Mrs. Cecil Inskeep, nurses and nurses aides; Mrs. William L. Fazebaker, scheduling; Mrs. James Getty, clerical; Rev. John McClain, motor corps; Miss Nellie Sloan, hostesses; Mrs. Dalton Major, cookie committee; Mrs. Charles Cave, VFW canteen; Father Schwindt, publicity and recruitment and general chairman.

The blood quota for November for Barton, Moscow, Nikep, Lonaconing, Gilmore and Midland area is 90 pints. This is a five pint increase for this area.

Father Schwindt and the chairmen of the committees hope that citizens of this area will back this free blood program and meet the quota. The quota has not been met since May of 1958 when 113 pints were collected.

If you are between the ages of 18 and 60 you may give blood. However, 18 to 20-year-old volunteer donors need parents consent.

Free transportation to and from the Blood Bank center can be secured by dialing HO 3-4972 on collection day.

Pythian Sisters Plan Visitation At Frostburg

FROSTBURG—Calanthe Temple No. 3, Pythian Sisters, will meet Friday at 7:30 p. m. in the Junior Hall, Broadway, at which time the grand chief of Maryland, Georgia Warratt, will make her official visit to the temple. Prior to the meeting, a dinner will be served at 6 p. m. at Switzer's Restaurant for all members of District 1 who care to attend.

Margaret Arnold, most excellent chief, will preside at the visitation and has asked all members who filled the chairs at the last meeting to wear white formal dresses.

Edna Engle, is serving as chairman of the program committee. Visitors will be present from Morning Star Temple 1, Lonaconing; Myrtle Temple 2, Midland; Manhattan Temple 8, and Garrett Temple 17, Oakland.

All members of all the temples are welcome to attend.

Tri-Towns UO Plans Dinner

WESTERNPORT — The Tri-Towns United Organizations will hold its fall "dutch treat" dinner meeting next Monday at the St. James parish house, according to William H. Thompson, chairman.

Ladies of St. James' Episcopal Church will serve the dinner, which is open to the public, at 6:30 p. m.

Alton R. Fortney and Fred Warnick, co-chairmen of the fall food drive, will announce final plans for the drive November 5.

Rev. Levi Ziegler and Harris LeFevre, co-chairmen of Christmas activities, will announce tentative plans for the annual distribution of baskets and toys and other Christmas season events.

Frostburg GOP Women Will Meet Tonight

FROSTBURG — The Women's Republican Club of Frostburg will meet this evening at 8 o'clock in the Legion Home, according to Miss Katherine W. Close, president.

A report will be given on the federation meeting last week in Baltimore. "Getting the Vote Out" will be discussed by Mrs. Harry Eisel.

Miss Close announced that campaign headquarters for the November 8 election will be discussed by Mrs. Noel S. Cook. The "180 Minutes Work" program will be further outlined.

At 9 p. m. Wednesday, the club will sponsor "Men's Night." J. Glenn Beall Jr., chairman of the Allegany County Republican State Central Committee, will introduce Charles Mathias, Sixth District candidate for Congress.

A reception will be held for Mr. and Mrs. Mathias. Mrs. J. Glenn Beall Sr. and Mrs. James Taylor will preside at the refreshment table.

Post Office Contract Let At Moorefield

MOOREFIELD — Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield has announced that a contract has been signed for the construction and lease to the Post Office Department of a new building in Moorefield.

The successful bidder is C. R. Powers of Moorefield. Ground breaking and construction of the new post office is expected to begin in the near future with completion due about March 1961. The lease will run for 10 years with renewal options.

The post office will be located on the east side of Main Street, next to the American Legion Home. It will provide 3,720 square feet of interior space, an outside loading platform, and ample hard-surfaced space for parking and truck maneuvering. Specifications call for modern lighting and equipment, including a low, open patron-service counter.

Summerfield pointed out that the new post office here will remain under private ownership while leased to the Federal Government, and hence will pay local real estate taxes to bear its share of the cost of local government. Over 1,600 such postal buildings have been constructed during the past year.

Demo Caravan In Keyser Today

KEYSER — The wives of state Democratic candidates in West Virginia hit the trail on October 16 with a Women's Caravan which will canvass almost every county in West Virginia in a two-week tour for the purpose of meeting the people and spreading the West Virginia Democratic Party's story.

Mrs. Thelma Hall, associate chairman of the State Democratic Executive Committee, has given notice to the Democrat Club of Mineral County that this caravan will arrive in Keyser at Democrat Headquarters on Wednesday, October 19, at 12:30 D.S.T. The public is cordially invited to attend and greet the candidates' wives.

Upon leaving Keyser, the caravan route will go toward Romney, Moorefield, Petersburg, Parsons and Elkins.

Presbyterians Plan Revival At McCoole

Rev. C. C. Coswert Is Guest Speaker

McCOOLE—The McCoole Presbyterian Church is to have a revival beginning October 24, and continuing through October 30. Services will be at 7:30 o'clock each evening except Saturday.

Rev. Charles C. Coswert is to be guest speaker for the services. Rev. Coswert is executive secretary for the Presbytery of Winchester of the Presbyterian Church in the U. S. living in Winchester. Rev. Coswert came to that office in 1959 from a pastorate in Potomac Presbytery where he served the Fairlington Presbyterian Church in Alexandria, Va. He is a graduate of Union Theological Seminary in Richmond, and has served pastorates in Front Royal, and Newport, Tenn.

Rev. Thomas E. Henderson, pastor of McCoole Presbyterian Church will serve as song leader for the series of evangelistic services. Rev. Henderson has served the church as pastor since June, 1959. McCoole Presbyterian Church was organized in May, 1958. Dr. John D. MacLeod served the church as pastor prior to Rev. Henderson. The McCoole Church is grouped with Burlington Presbyterian Church.

The people and officers of the church invite everyone to worship with them in these services.

Four Injured In Area Crash

Four persons were hospitalized following a one-car accident early yesterday near Burlington. Admitted to Potomac Valley Hospital in Keyser were Howard Samuel Hartman, 42, Burlington; his son, David Samuel Hartman, 16; John William Hartman, 23; and Margaret Nazelrodt, both of Burlington.

Trooper Robert Noechel of the West Virginia State Police said the accident occurred at 12:30 a. m. on the Patterson Creek Bridge, four miles south of Burlington.

Police said Howard Hartman was operating the vehicle on the bridge and when he reached the end he lost control. The car rammed into a tree.

Authorities said the driver sustained a badly lacerated lip, while his son suffered lacerations of his forearm. John Hartman suffered a broken jaw, while the Nazelrodt woman had lacerations to her mouth and cheek.

Poor Earnings Reports Send Market Downward

NEW YORK (UPI) — All the new lows outnumbered new highs during the past three months because a reality Tuesday as an influx of poor quarterly earnings statements caused a general market retreat.

The downside activity was in line with those analysts who were predicting the market would still have to react to earnings while some observers spoke optimistically of the low volume and a slight recovery for the final bell.

Besides the raft of poor company reports, the general business background showed a 17 per cent drop in September housing starts from the previous month. This was interpreted by some as at least a partial failure of the government's easy money policy to stimulate the economy.

The final tally indicated a narrow market of 1,183 issues traded. Of these, 606 declined, 321 advanced and 254 did not change.

State's Attorney Urges Support For GOP Ticket

Addresses Rally In South End

State's Attorney James S. Getty last night urged residents of this area to "give the Kennedy corporation credit for a powerful political machine" but to "give your vote to those who represent the Republican and Democratic ideals of this nation, Mr. Nixon and Mr. Lodge."

Mr. Getty was the principal speaker at a Republican campaign rally held in the Odd Fellows Hall on Virginia Avenue and attended by some 100 South Cumberland residents.

Saying the Republican record is now on trial, he asked his audience to examine it by showing "what we received from the Democrats, who had been in charge of government for 20 years, and what changes we have made in the past eight years."

He said the Democratic Party was "totally blind" to the dedicated Communist purpose of enslaving the non-Communist world—and did nothing to stop Communist penetration of the Balkans, Poland, Asia, Manchuria and half of Korea.

Cites Inflation

"Except for these fateful errors," he said, "the Korean War, which claimed 33,000 American lives, would not have been necessary."

The Democratic Party, he added, ignored distinguished scientists who urged rapid development of ballistic missiles and acceleration of the atomic bomb program.

He charged that the Democratic Party, through artificial controls and taxes created inflation "that robbed the people... least able to defend themselves—the aged and the retired, whose basic support is Social Security and retirement."

The Republicans, he said, restored the prestige and dignity of America by ending the enslavement of free people by the Communists, by ending the senseless war in Korea, by gigantic military expansion, and "brought back to the negotiating table of world affairs a new firmness and realism."

He said the laboring man has more take home pay than at any time in history. Social Security is broader... the budget is well

Judge Harris Hears Appeals In Busy Day

A number of criminal appeal cases were heard yesterday by Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris in Allegany County Circuit Court.

Larry Mayhew, 32, of Moscow, who was found guilty of neglecting his six children and was sentenced to the Maryland House of Correction for one year.

Judge Harris upheld a similar sentence imposed earlier this year by Louis A. Fatkin, magistrate of juvenile court.

Two women who were sentenced by Magistrate Fatkin to a year in the Maryland Reformatory for Women for neglect of their children were each sentenced to three months in the institution by Judge Harris.

They are Mrs. Margaret McManus, 48, of Sperry Terrace, and her daughter, Mrs. Annie Myers, 27, of Westernport.

Another daughter, Mrs. Mary Ann Heier, 23, of Westernport, failed to show up for trial yesterday, after she appealed her case in juvenile court in which she was sentenced to a year in the institution for neglect of two minor children.

The sentence imposed by Magistrate Fatkin was upheld by Judge Harris.

Jacob Click Sr. of Lonaconing was sentenced yesterday by Judge Harris to 30 days in the Allegany County jail for non-support. When tried before Magistrate Fatkin the man was sentenced to six months in the Maryland House of Correction.

In another appeal case from Juvenile Court, Myrl Stanley Evans, 47, of Williams Road, appeared an 18-month term in the House of Correction imposed by Magistrate Fatkin.

Yesterday his case was heard by Judge Harris who suspended the sentence. In the lower court Evans was found guilty of contributing to the delinquency of a 14-year-old girl last April.

School Board Gets Letters Of Thanks

Letters of appreciation received by the Allegany County Board of Education were read yesterday during a meeting of the Board.

Mrs. Paul Gipe, immediate past president of the Mt. Royal School Parent-Teachers Association wrote a letter of thanks for the Board's cooperation in matching funds for the installation of a public address system in the school.

She also cited the redecoration of the school's interior.

John Sullivan wrote a letter thanking the county group for permission they granted a baseball team sponsored by Frostburg Merchants which used the ball field of Beall High School this past season.

Display Food Prizes

Pages at the four-day cooking school which opened yesterday at the Strand Theatre are shown with some of the tempting food prizes which were given away. The prizes are Bonnie Swan, left, and Bonnie Dicken. The Times-News sponsored affair continues through Friday.

Today Is Family Day At Cooking School

Today is family day at the "Fantasy of Foods" cooking school, a day when homemakers attending may get many new ideas and recipes to please each member of the family at mealtime. This will be the second session of the four day school which is being presented as a public service by the Times-News. The two-hour period will get underway at 9:15 a.m. in the Strand Theatre.

Demonstrating the easy and correct methods of preparing recipes for the family and regaling the audience with interesting facts and fables about food will be the two home economists from the National Livestock and Meat Board, Miss Constance Weiser and Miss Mary Metag.

As each day is different, many of those attending the first session indicated they would be on hand early to get a good seat for the goings-on in the second session.

Prepared dishes and food baskets were presented. Winners included the following:

Food baskets, Mrs. Mary E. Clark, 10 Third Avenue, Ridgeley; Mrs. Mary Stallings, 842 Greene Street; Mrs. Norma James, 212 Elder Street; Mrs. Roy L. George, 996 National Highway, LaVale; Mrs. L. M. Wigfield, Flintstone; Mrs. James E. Moran, 635 Oldtown Road; Mrs. Carl Brinkman, 15 Arch Street; Mrs. J. C. Gardner, 505 Magruder Street; Nan Barb, 220 Walnut Place, and Mrs. Trub Lewis, RD 5, city.

Case of Seven-up, Mrs. Edward Jenkins Jr., 511 Rose Hill Avenue.

Taylor meat thermometer, Mrs. John Thompson, RD 5, Cresap town.

Food prepared during the session was awarded to the following:

Family steaks, Marguerite Howdysell, 500 Hill Top Drive; petite pot roast, Edna Volk, 5 Woodlawn Avenue, LaVale; ritz raisin pie, Mrs. J. R. Dorn, 607 Elm Street; Pixie lamb curry, Mrs. Dorothy Murray, Cash Valley Road; Porterhouse steak, Sadie Smith, 122 South Liberty Street; California casserole, Mrs. Sylvia Baker, 447 Baltimore Avenue; orange fantasy cake, Kathryn Hutt, RD 5, city; hamburger stroganoff, Mrs. David Jenkins, 60 Ormond Street, Frostburg; and patio pork roast, Mrs. Laura Pyle, 306 Harrison Street.

"When it comes to planning meals for her family, today's homemaker wants to be sure what she serves is nutritionally adequate," states Miss Weiser, who has had an opportunity to discuss the subject with women in many sections of the country.

Post Office Building Cited

An estimated $32,212,000 has been spent for 54 new post office buildings in Maryland, since 1953 according to Thomas F. Conlon, local postmaster.

Two such post office buildings were constructed in South End and in LaVale.

While the facilities have been equipped and furnished with postal funds, the cost of the buildings is borne by private investors, who lease or rent them to the Post Office Department.

Deaths

Berkenbaugh, Miss Nellie, 85, Lonaconing.

Brill, Homer B. Jr., 35, former resident.

Clauson, Mrs. John E., 87, Corriganville.

Coberly, Stark L., 76, Parsons, W. Va.

Smithers, Mrs. C. L., 78, former resident.

Business included a discussion of the program for the Western Maryland Conference on Youth planned Saturday in Hancock Senior High School.

The commission was formed three years ago to coordinate the efforts of all area agencies and individuals interested in youth work.

Mathias To Speak To Women's GOP Club In Frostburg

Charles McC. Mathias, Republican candidate for Congress from Maryland's Sixth District, will be here today to attend the 16th annual dinner meeting of the Independent Retail Food Dealers Association of Western Maryland.

He will be a special guest of the association at the meeting which will begin at 7 p. m. in St. Mary's Hall, Oldtown Road and will feature an address by Governor Tawes.

After the meeting, Mr. Mathias will go to Frostburg, where he is scheduled to speak to the Women's Republican Club at 9 p. m.

This meeting will be held in the American Legion Home in Frostburg.

'Y' To Start Swim Teams

Central YMCA has announced the formation of swim teams for boys and girls under the direction of George Strachan, swimming instructor.

Competition will be held for four age groups. These are: 10 years and under; 11 to 12; 13 to 15, and 16 years and under.

In addition to several intra "Y" contests, the better swimmers will compete in the regional championships in Baltimore, and AAU meets in the Pittsburgh area.

Boys and girls interested in developing their swimming skill should contact Mr. Strachan.

Practice sessions for boys at 5:30 p. m. on Monday, Wednesday and Friday and the girls will practice at the same time on Tuesday and Thursday.

Shriners To Hold Meeting Friday

Ali Ghan Temple, A.A.O.N.M.S., will hold a regular meeting Friday at 8 p. m. in Ali Ghan City Club here.

Paul M. Fletcher, illustrious potentate, will preside at the session, when a proposal for a change in the temple's by-laws will be acted on.

Credit Union League Plans Celebration

Event Scheduled Saturday Night

The Western Maryland chapter of the Maryland Credit Union League will hold its annual Credit Union Day celebration Saturday night at the new National Guard Armory here.

Plans call for entertainment from 8 to 9 p. m., when plate lunches and drinks will be served. Dancing, with music by the Stardusters, will be held from 9 p. m. until midnight.

All members of the some 14 credit unions in this area are being invited to attend.

Plans for the celebration are being made by a committee headed by Vernon L. Northcraft.

Members are Betty Rider, Eddie Rider, Tom Smith, Bernie Gehauf, Joe Keefe, Mary Lou Pulhalla, Harold Riggelman and Anna Grabenstein.

Flying Group Will Elect New Officers

Session Planned Thursday Night

The Cumberland Flying Association will elect officers for the coming year during a regular meeting on Thursday at 7:30 p. m. at the Municipal Airport at Wiley Ford.

The slate of officers will be presented by the nominating committee composed of C. M. Minke, Edward Robson and Mrs. Robert Poling. Nominations may be made from the floor, they said.

An interesting program on power communication will be heard on a series of records in charge of George Griffith.

Plans will also be discussed for the second annual pilots dinner on Saturday, October 29, at the Cumberland Country Club.

The committee in charge hopes to have E. A. "Pete" Goff Jr., assistant to the president of Link Aviation as guest speaker.

Mr. Goff is a former CAA representative from Pittsburgh and served in both World Wars and has retired from the Air Force.

He is president of the Early Birds, a national organization of veteran pilots. He is also third vice president of the OX 5 Club of America.

Reservations must be made by October 26. Those interested in attending are asked to contact John Nash, airport manager or Mrs. Isabelle Dawson at Gurley's Garage on South Liberty Street.

Invitations have been extended to airports of the area.

Parents Notified Runaways Held Here

Parents of two 15-year-old runaway youths from Baltimore were expected to come to Cumberland last night to take the boys home, local authorities said.

One youth was picked up in the Narrows early yesterday by City Police who said he was taken to the detention quarters of the Allegany County Infirmary, but later was transferred to the City Jail.

The second youth was arrested by State Police and lodged in detention quarters at the LaVale barracks.

Police said both youths gave phony names and addresses and acted "very smart" while being questioned. It took authorities considerable time to determine who the boys were and to notify their parents they were being held here.

Lodge Visits District

Republican Vice Presidential Nominee Henry Cabot Lodge, left, and Charles McC. Mathias, GOP candidate for Congress in the Sixth Congressional District, are shown as they were greeted by eager crowds as they arrive by motorcade at the Wheaton Plaza in Montgomery County Monday evening. Mr. Mathias assists Mrs. Lodge out of her car as the former UN ambassador uses both his hands to greet well-wishers gathering around them.

Naval Reserve Division To Begin Weekend Drills

U.S. Naval Reserve CB Division 5-7 will begin monthly weekend drills beginning this Saturday and Sunday, with drills scheduled from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. each day.

Cmdr. Paul M. Arbogast, commanding officer of the local Seabee unit, said the schedule for the remainder of this year will include this weekend, November 19-20, and December 17-18.

Commencing in January of 1961 regular drills will be held on the third weekend of each month, he said.

This program is in conformance with the national pattern of CB training drills to afford more opportunity for local reservists in these units to improve their skills and permit more rapid personal promotion. Emphasis on the weekend drills will be on actual work experiences in accordance with the individual reservists' ratings, such as builder, surveyor, steelworker, electrician, equipment operator, utilitiesman and construction mechanic.

During August of this year, Cmdr. Arbogast said, Division 5-7 was in first place in the Fifth Naval District competition with 15 other CB units. This was the first time in the history of the local unit that it placed first in the district.

John F. Murphy, Cumberland, an electrician in the Cumberland unit was advanced from CE2 to CE1 after completing training duty requirements, practical factor check-offs and successfully passing the written advancement examination. Murphy's advancement aided in bringing the local CB division into its first place position in the district, unit officers said.

Dennis N. Schreiber recently completed nine weeks of recruit training at the Great Lakes Naval Training Station in Chicago, Ill., and was promoted from CR (construction recruit) to CP (construction apprentice), officials announced.

Cmdr. Arbogast reported that the local outfit has openings for journeyman or apprentices in building, steelworker, utilities, electricians, equipment operators, drivers and mechanics trades. Interested persons holding jobs in these fields are invited to meet officers and men of the CB division at the Naval Reserve Training Center, McKaig's Hill, Saturday, Cmdr. Arbogast added.

Church Bells To Ring On Election Day

The Cumberland Ministerial Association, local Catholic churches and the Cumberland Lions Club are participating in a plan to ring church bells at intervals on election day, November 8.

The plan is to ring the church bells for five minutes every hour from 10 a. m. to 6 p. m. to remind all citizens of their responsibility to exercise their right to vote.

The Cumberland Ministerial Association voted Monday unanimously on a proposal made by the local Lions Club to ring the bells on election day.

Pastors of the three local Catholic churches also announced the bells in their parishes will be rung every hour on the hour.

The pattern for a Lions Liberty Bells program was set in 1956 when the Lions Club of Fairfield, Conn., decided to do something about voter apathy.

Rev. Dr. E. E. Miller, president of the local Ministerial Association, said the bells will ring to call to mind the high privilege we have in this land of voting for the candidates of our choice to serve us in a freely elected government. He also said the bells will remind us that this nation of ours was founded upon trust in God and a recognition of the dignity and worth of every individual.

Cool And Wet Weather Is Forecast Here

Cooler weather with rain beginning this afternoon is forecast for this section.

The area has been relatively dry this month with only 1.5 inches recorded by Robert R. Golden, official weather observer at Constitution Park.

The cool, wet weather also is predicted to continue tomorrow in Maryland and parts of West Virginia.

This area has been enjoying Indian-Summer type weather recently with warm sunny days and cool nights.

Partial Payments Suggested As Tax Deadline Nears

City taxes are coming in satisfactorily this week but not as fast as expected.

Total collections Monday and yesterday were about $65,000.

Monday, October 24, will be the last day to pay 1960 taxes at par. Taxes paid after that will be subject to interest at one-half percent a month, retroactive to August 22, the day the levy was set.

Each year, Mrs. Lucile Roeder, finance commissioner, stresses that those who are unable to pay their entire tax bill by the interest-free deadline can save money by making partial payments. Interest is charged only on the unpaid balance.

Men Of Emmanuel Plan Feed Tonight

The Men of Emmanuel, an organization of Emmanuel Episcopal Church, will have an oyster and ham feed from 6 until 9 p.m. today at 711 North Centre Street.

Randolph C. Swann is president of the Men of Emmanuel and Garland L. Chaney is chairman of arrangements for tonight.

School Board To Permit Use Of Auditoriums

Teacher Is Given Leave Of Absence

The Allegany County Board of Education yesterday granted permission to organizations which requested the use of auditoriums in public schools of the county.

Ralph R. Webster, secretary of the board and superintendent of public schools, said permission was granted the Cumberland Choral Society to use Fort Hill's auditorium on November 28 and December 4.

The society, headed by Francis D. Verdery, LaVale, plans to rehearse for a concert on the November date and present it on the latter date.

Alvin C. Neat Post, VFW, Lonaconing, was granted permission to use the auditorium of Valley High on October 25 when the U. S. Army Chorus will present a program open to the public, free of charge.

Army Postal Unit 728, Army Reserves here, was given permission to sponsor the chorus on the following evening at West Side School.

The Board also granted Farrady Post 24, American Legion, Frostburg, permission to use the Beall High School auditorium in connection with a Veterans Day program, although details are to be worked out by the post and the school officials.

A leave of absence was granted to Mrs. Mary Sowerby Hinze, 800 Bedford Street, English teacher at Allegany High School, who has been ill.

J. Goodloe Jackson, board president, submitted a resolution to the members citing Kenneth Malcolm's appointment as president of the Maryland Association of Boards of Education recently in Hagerstown.

He said the county board should be grateful to the state group for their selection. Mr. Jackson said he is sure he will serve with the same devotion to duty that he has characterized in his long service on the county unit. Mr. Malcolm takes office January 1.

Blaze Badly Damages Large House Trailer

A 60-foot aluminum house trailer was gutted by fire last evening at a trailer camp on Sunset Avenue off Williams Road, just outside the city limits.

South End Fire Company answered the first alarm at 8:11 p. m., and Central Fire Company went to the scene five minutes later. District 16 Volunteer Fire Company also responded to the call.

South End firemen said the trailer was owned by Alvin Ray and was virtually destroyed by the blaze which "looked like a bonfire" when firemen arrived. The blaze was quickly brought under control and confined to the trailer.

The cause of the blaze is unknown, firemen said, and no estimate of the damage has been made. Several other trailers were nearby, but none were damaged, they stated.

No one apparently was injured by the fire, although firemen said it looked as though someone had tried to fight the fire with a garden hose before the fire companies arrived.

South End firemen returned to the station at 9:52 p. m. and Central came home at 10:12 p. m.

Another alarm at 7:59 p. m. was answered by East Side Fire Company who reported that a wooden fence at the rear of 446 Bond Street caught fire. There was some damage to the risers and palings, firemen said. Cause of the fire is unknown.

Local, Area Land Purchased By SRC

The State Roads Commission has purchased local land for use in the Thruway project and land in the LaVale area for use in improving U.S. Route 40 toward Winchester Road.

The deeds were filed yesterday in the land records office of Allegany County Circuit Court. The local land in the vicinity of Blackiston Avenue was sold to the SRC by Francis P. Wempe, William F. Wempe, Madeline W. Mayhall and Leroy Mayhall, heirs of Fred A. Wempe.

The land along Route 40 was sold to the SRC by Roy H. Baldwin and Janet S. Baldwin and the First Federal Savings and Loan Association.
